

GOVERNOR C. C. Young enters office with a remarkable asset in the way of universal good will. If there were not enough content in the final election to leave any memories, chosen by a majority which breaks all records, with the support of an overwhelming majority of the legislature, and with the cordial good wishes of all the people, the new governor is confronted with no obstacles except the inherent difficulty of his task. And for that he has eighteen years of public experience, most of it in presiding over the legislature. Exempt from the interesting but wasteful occupation of fighting enemies, Governor Young has, instead, a unique opportunity to work for the constructive good of the state.

CALIFORNIA has plenty of things to do, some of which no one as yet knows how to do. The immediate task, as to these, is not to act, but to prepare the preliminary studies. Our tax system will last as it is for two, and perhaps four years more. Meantime we must find out what to do, when it again becomes both inadequate and unfair. Our most urgent water problem, in Southern California, is fortunately on the way to solution by Federal action. The larger problem of the rest of the state needs first to be assembled into one room, for unofficial consultation, the representatives of the various state and federal departments and municipal and private enterprises which are now going their separate and unrelated ways. The administrative reorganization of the jumbled executive departments and commissions is long overdue, but even now the first thing needed is to spend at least two years finding out what to do, before doing anything radical. Other and even more fundamental reforms of governmental structure and functions may have to wait still longer, but it is none too soon to begin studying them. One of the first needs of the present is to investigate the needs of the future.

OTHER things can be done at once. Some of them will be proposed by the Governor; others will come from legislative initiative. Two at least are already announced—an executive budget which covers all the revenues and expenditures of the state, whether under legislative control or not, and the establishment of what amounts to a governor's cabinet. The usual senate encephalograph was barred from the room and Kellogg's own personal stenographer took secret notes on the proceedings.

It is proposed to license dietitians, so that those who do our stomachs with food shall be as competent as those who dose it with drugs. The idea is of course excellent. But how are you going to carry it out? Science has, to be sure, accumulated a vast store of positive knowledge on the subject of food, health and in disease, and established a methodology of expanding that knowledge and testing the claims of new discoveries. In no branch of the knowledge of the human animal have there been greater advances in recent years. Nothing, it would seem, could be steeper than to require of practicing dietitians a competent familiarity with this knowledge and these methods.

But if you were to try this, the ignoramus would need only to erect his ignorance into a sect. Then he would claim for his dogma equal rights with scientific truth. The vegetarians, the raw-food faddists, the "auto-intoxication" bugaboo, the apostle of imaginary compatibilities and incompatibilities, and every other variety of pseudo-scientist could proclaim himself a new "school," and in due time secure the right to license himself, by examining himself on his own vagary. Until we discover that science is one thing and pseudo-scientific dogma another, that they have not equal rights, and that there is no analogy between sects in religion and sects in science, it seems hopeless to require that those who practice on the human body shall know that body, as those who practice on engines and plumbing must know boilers and pipes.

ARIZONA ACTS TO BALK BOULDER DAM

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 12.—With the passage of a senate bill, the Arizona legislature took definite action today to defeat the Swing-Johnson bill and its provisions for building a dam on the Colorado river, at Boulder canyon.

The bill provides for the creation of a commission of six to wait on congress to protest passage of Boulder dam legislation.

Gov. G. W. P. Hunt immediately appointed four of the six commissioners, including Dwight E. Heard, Phoenix; Hoyal A. Smith, W. S. Barnum and Dr. Clarence Gunter, of Globe.

The senate memorial to congress, protesting against the Swing-Johnson bill, was assured passage after the noon recess today, when it was apparent that the entire legislature and state executives were in accord against the proposed congressional measure.

(By United Press)
MEXICO CITY, Jan. 12.—Further rebellious depredations and acts of banditry were reported today in various parts of the republic, indicating that other names would soon be added to the list of 91 killed in such disorders, which has just been made public by the government.

Federal troops today were in control of the villages of Arandas, Tototlan and Cocula, which rebels held momentarily after attack upon these defenseless communities. It was reported that the federalists had killed several persons and had taken many prisoners in the captures.

Rebels Burn Bridges
Bands of rebels at Tequila, between Aranda and Amittlan, burned bridges of the Southern Pacific railroad and committed other depredations until the appearance of federal troops, when they fled.

Ninety-one combatants, including 73 insurrectionists, have been killed in a succession of clashes between federal troops and insurgents, growing out of revolts and disorders during the last two weeks, Gen. Jose Alvarez, chief of staff to President Calles, has announced.

Despite increasing reports that revolutionary activities are spreading in volume and intensity throughout militant Mexican states, General Alvarez today maintained that the government was well able to cope with the situation.

PLAN TO CHECK BILLS OFFERED GAINS SUPPORT

Volume of Proposed Legislation in Line with Young's Request

(By United Press)
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—With all signs pointing to a serious effort on the part of the state legislature to curtail the number of measures introduced, in line with the request of Governor Young, bill presentation again appeared as the headline attraction of today's program.

The fact that fewer bills are being presented, however, does not connote less work for the lawmakers when they return for the second session. The measures already introduced run the gamut of controversial subjects in state politics.

Reapportionment, highway financing, reorganization and revision of criminal procedure are already covered by measures presented.

Even the spectre of taxing publicly-owned and operated public utilities, a leading issue of the last legislature, returned yesterday to haunt its old-time opponents, and bids fair to open a new field of argument.

NEFF GIVEN M'BRIDE JOB AS ROAD HEAD

Board Declares Office of Highway Chief Vacant, Then Proceeds to Fill It

CHANGE IS SURPRISE

Smith and Finley Vote in Opposition to Ousting of Superintendent of Work

A SUDDEN SHIFT in plans for reorganization of the county road department, disclosed by the county board of supervisors late yesterday, left the present system intact, but under a new head, Nat H. Neff, of Santa Ana, replacing J. L. McBride as county superintendent of highways.

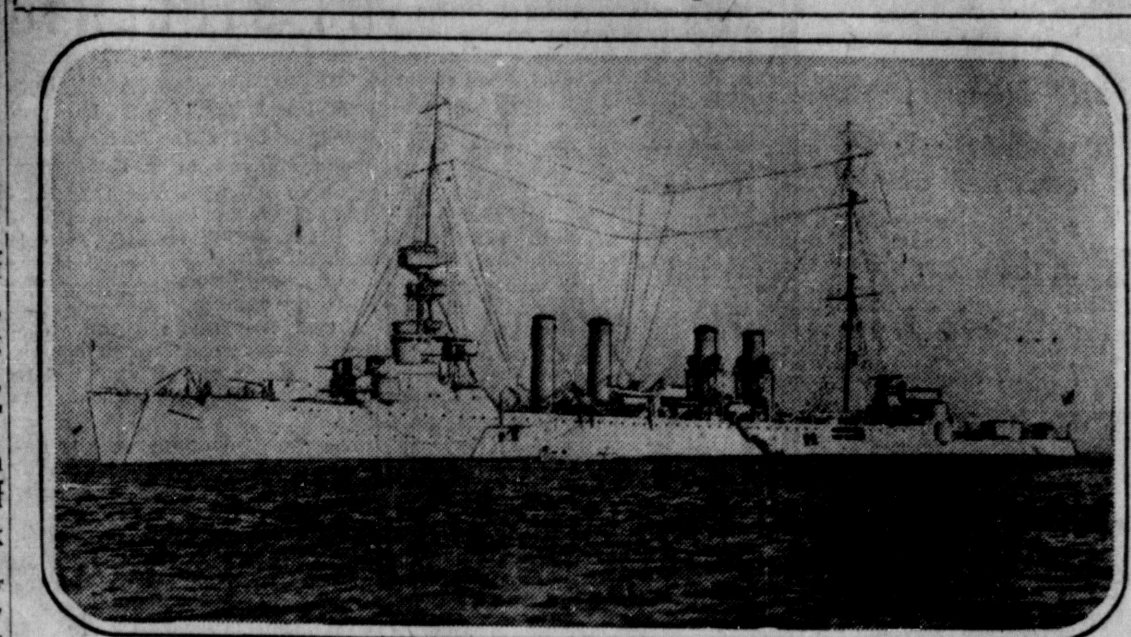

The surprise move was sprung at the tag end of yesterday's meeting, as the board apparently was about to adjourn without taking scheduled action on the previously announced plan of re-vamping direction of the road system. Two resolutions were passed, one declaring McBride's office vacant, and the other appointing Neff to his place at a salary of $400 per month. The change was made with breath-taking swiftness, no inkling of the board's intention having reached the public in advance.

McBride Demands Action
McBride himself precipitated the action when he appeared before the board and demanded that whatever action was contemplated toward him and his office be taken at once. The road superintendent made it plain that he desired anything but uncertainty.

Chairman William Schumacher announced his readiness to proceed, if he could locate Supervisor George Jeffrey, who had left the meeting. Jeffrey was found and resumed his seat, whereupon the resolution declaring McBride's office vacant was passed. Schumacher, Jeffrey and John C. Mitchell supported it, with Supervisors Willard Smith and S. H. Finley voting against it.

On the second resolution, after the office had been declared vacant, Smith voted with the majority in appointing Neff to the place. Finley again voted no.

Slayer to Die

CLOVIS, N. M., Jan. 12.—George J. Hassel, murderer of his wife and eight children, must die. A jury, after two and a half hours' deliberation, found him guilty and set the death penalty last night. After killing all the members of his family with an ax, Hassel buried the bodies in the cellar of his home. He lived in the house a week before the wholesale murders were detected. Discovery of the crime was made after neighbors became suspicious over the family's prolonged absence.

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 12.—Climaxing a three-hour gun battle with police from a barricade in the home of B. G. Showley, in the fashionable Mission Hills district, here, Bill Smith, negro gunman, was killed when detectives battered down the door of a closet in which he had taken refuge and riddled him with bullets.

Policeman William Cody was shot through the left arm by the negro in one of the police attempts to rout him from the house.

ARIZONA WILL TAKE FIGHT ON DAM TO HIGHEST COURT

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The state of Arizona will appeal to the U. S. supreme court to prevent construction of the proposed dam on the Colorado river at Boulder or Black canyon, if the Swing-Johnson bill is approved by congress. Representative Hayden, Democrat, Arizona, declared in a minority report, submitted to the house today. Hayden claimed the bill was unconstitutional and in conflict with state laws respecting the appropriation of waters by the federal government.

"For the first time in the history of federal irrigation and waterpower legislation," Hayden said, "congress, by this bill, proposes to assert the right of the United States to appropriate water for the generation of hydro-electric power and for irrigation and domestic purposes regardless of state law. The avowed object of the bill is to use the power of the federal government to seize the waters of the Colorado in defiance of the state of Arizona."

Claims Law Violations
"The bill violates the law, as established by the constitution or laws of all of the state of the arid west, and the consent of congress, that the right to appropriate water for irrigation, power and other beneficial uses shall be obtained from the state and not the federal government."

"It is not within the power of congress or the legislatures of the six states to divide and apportion the waters of the Colorado river and its tributaries in which seven states are interested, as proposed in this bill. Such apportionment can only be accomplished by a decision of the supreme court or by a complete agreement among the seven states and the United States."

Utilization of the resources of the Colorado, Hayden said, are of such magnitude and importance that initial development should be undertaken for the combined purposes of flood control, irrigation and power. To avoid waste and mismanagement, which he said are to be found in the conduct of large operations by the government, Hayden recommended creation of a Colorado river authority, similar to the Port of New York authority.

Arizona to Keep Up Fight
"The enactment of this bill," Hayden said, "can only result in protracted interstate litigation over Colorado river water rights. In self-defense, Arizona will be compelled to file a suit in the supreme court, restraining construction of the dam until the rights of that state in and to the Colorado river are determined."

Hayden attacked the financial features of the bill, claiming authorization was made for an expenditure of $125,000,000 of federal funds which had not been passed on by the budget. He said the bill "falsely purports" to authorize construction or another federal irrigation project.

"This is pure camouflage because, in truth and in fact, the primary purpose of the bill is to provide for a government hydro-

CABINET MAN PUT ON GRILL BY SENATORS

State Secretary Before Foreign Relations Committee in Secret Session

EXPLAINS U. S. POLICY

Official Outlines Washington Attitude Toward Nicaragua and Mexico

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Precautions for secrecy—remnants of war times—were invoked by Secretary of State Kellogg, when he appeared before the senate foreign relations committee, in executive session, today, to give the grounds for his Nicaraguan and Mexican policies.

While Democrats were assailing Kellogg's policy in the house foreign affairs committee, the secretary went before the senate committee, behind closed doors, and pledged members of the committee to secrecy regarding the evidence he offered. The usual senate encephalograph was barred from the room and Kellogg's own personal stenographer took secret notes on the proceedings.

Kellogg, accompanied by two secretaries, went into the secret session of the senate foreign relations committee shortly before 11 o'clock. Senators have been informed that, beyond President Coolidge's official citation of evidence in his message to congress, Monday, Kellogg professes to have proof direct from President Calles, of Mexico, that arms are being shipped into Nicaragua by Mexicans. This proof is supposed to have been intercepted by agents of this government, amplifying the state department's contention that Mexico is fostering the Liberal revolt against the American-recognized president, Diaz.

Kellogg also was expected to be called on to explain the Mexican government's new denial of the charges that it has been participating in the Nicaraguan trouble, set forth in a statement by Foreign Minister Searns, at Mexico City.

Charges Bolshevik Interference
A direct charge that Bolsheviks were undertaking "the destruction of what they term American imperialism" in Mexico and Latin America was made by secretary Kellogg, in a statement submitted to the senate foreign relations committee.

"The Bolshevik leaders have had very definite ideas with respect to the role which Mexico and Latin America are to play in their general program of revolution," Kellogg said.

"They have set up as one of their fundamental tasks the destruction of what they term American imperialism as a necessary prerequisite to the successful development of the international revolutionary movement in the new world," Kellogg said.

"The propagation of Communist ideas and principles in the various countries of Latin America is considered secondary to the carrying of propaganda against the aims and policies of the United States."

Base for Action Against U. S.
"Thus Latin America and Mexico are conceived as a base for activities against the United States."

"Communists in the United States have been repeatedly instructed to devote special attention to the struggle against American imperialism in Latin America and to the organization of resistance to the United States."

Kellogg for three hours defended before the committee his drastic policy in sending marines and warships to Nicaragua. Unusual precautions were taken to keep any testimony, but that embodied in the statement, from being made public.

Kellogg's opponents on the committee maintained opposition to the policy, despite the secretary's explanations.

Representatives Romjue, Democrat, Missouri, told the house foreign affairs committee that President Coolidge "had taken sides" in the internal Nicaraguan dispute in allying himself with the Diaz regime. Romjue's remarks were in support of his resolution asking the state department for all its information on Mexican and Nicaraguan questions.

Star in House Committee
The house foreign affairs committee held a spirited session, with Representative Romjue, Democrat, Missouri, charging that the president's message to congress presented no justification for landing

PEKING, Jan. 12.—Chinese soldiers have occupied the American missionary building at Foochow, according to word received here today from the U. S. consul.

The situation at Shaowu, 145 miles northwest of Foochow, is becoming critical, according to the consul, who said that the lives of all missionaries were in danger because of the activities of soldiers and bandits.

Instructions have been issued to all American missionaries in Foochow and Shaowu to be in readiness for instant evacuation, the consul reported.

SHANGHAI QUIET AS MARINES ARRIVE
SHANGHAI, Jan. 12.—Exposed streets in the neighborhood of the foreign quarters were barricaded today and labor trouble, in the form of an extensive strike of Chinese store employees, had begun.

The city was quiet and fears were somewhat assuaged by the arrival in port of the American admiral, Williams, with a U. S. cruiser and marines.

"King" Ben was brought into court on a stretcher, attended by "Queen" Mary and a large crowd of his followers.

MURDERER OF EDITOR IS SENTENCED TO LIFE TERM

(By United Press)
CANTON, O., Jan. 12.—Pat McDermott, convicted of the murder of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton Daily News, today was formally sentenced to life imprisonment.

The sentence was imposed in common pleas court by Trial Judge E. W. Diehl, who followed the recommendations of the jury that McDermott was guilty of murder in the first degree, but that mercy should be shown.

A motion for a new trial was overruled. The defense gave notice that an appeal would be taken to higher courts.

COURT TAKES DISPUTE UNDER CONSIDERATION

Superior Judge Homer G. Ames today had under advisement the case of Utery and Son, of Pomona, against Dr. G. W. Forrester, Anaheim orchardist, involving a dispute over fertilizer. Trial of the case was completed late yesterday.

The plaintiff sued Dr. Forrester for $608, alleged to be due for eight cars of fertilizer. The eight cars were delivered to the Forrester ranch and, after four of them had been spread, the owner appeared and halted operations, refusing to allow the remaining four cars to be unloaded and refusing to pay for the fertilizer, it is said.

In answering the plaintiff's suit, Dr. Forrester declared that he had ordered only one car of fertilizer, of high grade, whereas the eight carloads sent him were of inferior quality and contained large quantities of noxious weeds, which damaged his ranch. He filed a cross-complaint for $5000 damages.

Attorneys Nichols, Cooper and Hickson, of Pomona, represent Utery and Son. Scarborough, Forgy and Reinhaus, Santa Ana, represent Dr. Forrester.

HEFLIN REPEATS MURDER CHARGES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Repeating his charge that the late Jesse Smith, confidante of former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, was "murdered," Senator Hefflin, Democrat, Alabama, declared in the senate today that "Harry was to receive $25,000 when the body of Smith was cold."

"On the night when Smith was murdered, Harry Daugherty was at the White House," Hefflin declared. "He left his friend in the apartment alone. Harry was to receive $25,000 when the body was cold."

"They didn't even hold an inquest," Hefflin continued. "A friend of mine was told by a friend of his, who lived across the hall, that the shot that killed Smith was fired at 6 o'clock in the afternoon and they didn't find his body until 9 o'clock the next morning."

Smith's will left $25,000 to the former attorney general.

Hefflin began his speech with another discussion of the Fall-Doheny acquittal.

"You can't convict a million dollars," he declared. "Money is the all powerful and dominating thing in our government."

"There isn't a senator who approves of the verdict in the Fall-Doheny case. There isn't an honest man in the government who approves of that verdict and no man in the country does unless there is corruption in his soul."

Everington Will Resign Dry Post

GLENDAL, Jan. 12.—Col. James W. Everington, former chief of Los Angeles police, will resign from the prohibition service immediately and enter the race for post-mastership of Glendale, he announced here today.

In announcing his resignation, Everington stated that the bootlegging element in Los Angeles had been strong enough to block his appointment to the office of prohibition administrator of Southern California and Arizona.

He said he had been offered enforcement positions in other sections of the country, but had no desire to leave his home.

Coolidge Asked to Continue Support

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Encouraged by the statement of Chairman Snell, of the house rules committee, yesterday, that Boulder dam legislation would soon be voted upon in the house, the California house delegation, accompanied by Representative Smith, Republican, Idaho, head of the irrigation committee, today asked President Coolidge to continue to support the project. The congressmen said opposition of Arizona and Utah was diminishing.

TWO-ACT PLAY WILL BE GIVEN BY STUDENTS

The two-act comedy, "A Successful Calamity," will be presented by Santa Ana junior college drama students at 8:15 tomorrow night, in the high school auditorium. The play will set a precedent for giving, annually, a college dramatic production, it is expected from the favor with which the suggestion has been received.

During the year, the junior college students give frequent one-act plays, but the annual play will be the biggest undertaking of the year.

The direction of the play is under charge of Emil Foust, student, assisted by Ernest Crozier Phillips, drama instructor.

Twelve students are in the cast. Some of the most intensive work undertaken by the junior college dramatic students has been centered about development of the plot. Opportunity for good character acting is afforded the students, Phillips said.

A tired New York business man, whose role is played by William Homan, sought to escape the rigors of a boresome life of theaters, dinners and operas by feigning financial difficulty. He seriously doubted the loyalty of his family, but in the crisis it rallied to his side. The stock market was affected by the reports of his ruin and, as a result, he was able to make a business scoop that earned $3,000,000 for his firm.

Many human touches, pathetic and humorous, are developed in the play. Lovers have their roisterous outbursts and the kindly old butler his "sirs."

Tickets for the entertainment are being sold among students and townspeople. Advance sales indicate that the play will be presented to a large audience. Tickets are on sale in the Santa Ana book store.

American troops in Nicaragua. He declared that if "we do not get into war we will be fortunate." He and Representative McSwain, Democrat, South Carolina, wanted action on resolutions seeking Nicaraguan-Mexican data from the state department.

A flurry of excitement developed when Representative Fairchild, Republican, New York, blocked a motion of Representative Moore, Democrat, Virginia, to force Kellogg to appear Friday before the house group. Moore, angered, replied that Fairchild "couldn't put blind bridges on this committee."

Dr. Latane, of Johns Hopkins university, condemned landing of American troops in Nicaragua, adding the president "had no authority to land troops in a country to protect Americans when the Americans are in Wall street."

U. S. MARINES SAVE TOWN FROM REBELS

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 12.—Timely arrival of 300 U. S. marines at Managua, on the Escondido river, in the interior of Nicaragua, has saved the town from attack by Liberal forces, fighting to replace the Conservative president, Diaz, by the Liberal claimant, Juan Sacasa. The marines were dispatched from Bluefields, on the east coast, where there now has been established a considerable U. S. fleet.

4 SHIPS ASHORE IN NARRAGANSETT BAY

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 12.—Three government boats, with a total of 18 men aboard, went aground in Narragansett bay, today while trying to assist the freighter Pomham, which grounded during yesterday's blizzard.

The Pomham, with 13 men aboard, was still high and dry on Rose island ledge, making a total of four boats aground in the bay. In rapid succession, the naval tug Triton, the steam lighter Larjo and the range boat No. 526 went aground on Rose island ledge, while trying to assist the Pomham. All three boats are attached to the U. S. naval torpedo station here.

While none of the grounded boats was thought to be in immediate danger, the heavy sea, kicked up by yesterday's furious storm, was still running this morning, and plans were being hurriedly made to save the stranded craft.

LEGION TO BE REPRESENTED IN LONG SWIM

Louis E. Timson, Lynn, Mass., who is entered in the Catalina channel swim, will be the representative of the Orange county American Legion, according to an announcement made today.

Timson appeared before the executive committee of the Santa Ana post last night and explained that he wanted to represent the Orange county veterans. He is an ex-service man, having seen active service in France. He was decorated for bravery.

Timson was introduced by Stewart Cundriff, of the Newport Beach post, who announced that a boat had been chartered to accompany Timson on his swim. Sixty-five American Legion members will be on the boat, which, he said, would leave Newport Beach early Saturday morning, arriving at Catalina in time for the start of the swim.

Scores of legion members are contemplating making the trip, to act as rooters for the veteran. Those who go on the excursion are asked to bring musical instruments to entertain the swimmer while he is in the water. Timson said that he wanted "the boys" to furnish amusement throughout the swim.

Timson is the swimmer who is credited with aiding Gertrude Ederle in her remarkable swim across the English channel and who, himself, has attempted the swim. He holds a record for speed for the first seven miles in the channel. He was forced to retire because of rough weather.

He also coached Mrs. Corson, New York woman, who swam the channel a few weeks after Miss Ederle completed her swim.

An unusually low price for the boat fare to Catalina and return, Saturday, has been secured by Cundriff and legion members in Santa Ana who desire to make the trip are asked to communicate with Cundriff.

Timson will be present at the meeting of the Santa Ana post, tomorrow night, to tell Santa Ana members what he wants in the form of a "rooting section" during the swim.

electric power project." Hayden said flood control was only an incident to the major purposes of the bill and insisted that adequate protection against floods in the Imperial and Yuma valleys could be secured for less than one-third of the sum authorized.

The requirements of Los Angeles and other California coastal cities for additional water for domestic uses do not justify passage of this bill. The present issue is whether it shall be farming land in Arizona or in California which must go dry in order that the people of the Southern California coastal cities may have water. Arizona insists that it is unnecessary to take any water from the Colorado because sufficient water of better quality to supply these municipalities can be obtained at less expense from the drainage of Owens river and Mono lake, on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada mountains, in California.

L. A. TO OPPOSE CARFARE INCREASE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—The city of Los Angeles will oppose the request of the Pacific Electric and the Los Angeles Railway companies to increase fares from 9 to 25 per cent for city and interurban transit.

The city council this morning adopted a resolution to have the city attorney and the board of public utilities appear before the state railroad commission and oppose the increase.

A petition, filed by the railway companies with the commission, asks for the increase "to pay a just return upon an investment of $80,000,000."

Six-cent fares will be raised to 7 cents and 10-cent fares to 12 cents, if the request is granted. Commutation fares would increase to 20 per cent.

A WORD OF COMFORT
God has entrusted rare treasure to earthly vessels. How often you have been surprised at the attainments of some whom you thought to be possessed of commonplace capacities.
Deep down in your own heart lies unsuspected strength and heroism. God put it there. You have not needed it before, but you will surprise yourself now that your days of trial have come, by being brave and steadfast in the face of overwhelming grief.

JELLINE—At her home, 1011 North

TWO ARE INJURED
IN AUTO COLLISION

Clyde Young, of 139 North Los Angeles street, Anaheim, was seriously injured and his companion, H. Walter, of the same address, received numerous bruises in an automobile collision at the intersection of Garden Grove road and Seventeenth street shortly after noon today.

The men were rushed to the Emergency hospital, in Huntington Beach. Later, Young was brought to the Santa Ana Valley hospital.

Details of the accident were vague. The name of the driver of the other machine was not obtained.

Police News

Charged with being drunk, Henry Howell, 39, 925 French street, was arrested last night by Officer H. E.
Holmes.

Police are searching for an 8-year-old boy, who is alleged to have stolen a bicycle, yesterday, from the Henry Bike shop, West Fourth street. According to a report filed with the police, the youth came to the place on roller skates and took the bicycle from a place where it was exhibited in front of the store. A good description of the youth was obtained.

George Miller, 54, 1301 West Palmyra street, Orange, was arrested here yesterday afternoon by Officers Smith, Roberts and Holmes on a drunk charge.

Jack Stone, 23, charged with van-grancy, was arrested yesterday by Ed McCallan, chief criminal deputy sheriff. He was lodged in the county jail.

POST CARD MOVEMENT SECURE PARK

The executive committee of Santa Ana post, American Legion, went on record, last night, as endorsing the movement to secure a recreational reserve in the Cleveland National forest for an American Legion park.

A telegram, received by G. K.
Seovel from Congressman P. H. D.
Swing, was to the effect that Swing believed he could secure passage of legislation authorizing the secretary of agriculture to segregate, for recreational development, lands desired for this purpose, provided application is made for it by the county board of supervisors.

County-wide Movement
With the endorsement of Santa Ana post, expected tomorrow night, the proposition will be tendered the county council of the American Legion, which meets Friday night, in Garden Grove. The movement is a county-wide affair, each American Legion organization in the county participating.

The movement was started by the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce, according to Mason Yould, president, who stated that the board of supervisors had promised co-operation.

The executive committee passed a resolution, ratifying the action of S. E. Wellington, past commander of the post, in representing and assisting Paul Tucker and his guardian in securing a full hearing of his case before the veterans' welfare board.

New Committee Named
Dr. John Wehrly, Dr. James Farage and Dr. H. McVicker Smith were appointed as a committee to look after all members of the post.
The committee is a new one.

Because the present entertainment committee, named several months ago, failed to function, it was ordered discharged and the following members named on a new entertainment committee:

Ed Kolbe, chairman; George Richardson, O. A. Jacobs and Charles Van Wyk.

The old committee included E. M.
Sundquist, chairman; Fred Wilde, Harold Yost and Elliott H. Rowland.
The executive committee created an emergency committee, to function only in times of emergency.

The members of this committee are the chairman of all legion committees, about 20 in number.

Letters of thanks were ordered written to the Yaeger Sand and Rock company and the Orange County Rock and Gravel company, for sand and gravel donated to the post for improvements recently made on legion home, on Birch street.

GOVERNMENT ASKS
FACTS ON AIRPORT

The federal government is not directly interested in acquiring national airports, but will light airways and provide intermediate landing fields upon established air routes, according to a communication read to the county supervisors yesterday by Clerk J. M. Backs.

The communication was from Earl L. Jones, chief of the air division in the department of commerce, in Washington. It was dispatched here in reference to the county movement toward interesting the federal government in locating a national airport on county acreage south of Santa Ana. Inquiry, made by the county supervisors and directed to government officials in San Diego, was referred to the department of commerce.

The department forwarded to Backs two blank forms of bulletins, to be filled with data on the county field and returned to Washington, together with maps of the proposed airport and its surrounding territory, including its geographical relation to the city of Santa Ana.

'DOLLAR PER MILE'
FINE IS METED OUT

Charged with speeding 50 miles an hour, near San Juan Capistrano, last Sunday, Charles M.
Angelakis, Greek actor, at one time said to have been an imitator of Charlie Chaplin's screen antics, today was fined a "dollar a mile," when he was taken before Justice John Landell.

Unable to pay the fine, Angelakis was returned to the Orange county jail, to serve a day for every dollar of the fine.

The actor was arrested by Ray Bradfield, state traffic officer.

According to reports in Justice Landell's office, traffic fines in his court for last week, collected last Friday, amounted to $1175, probably the most the records ever have shown, he said.

SUITE FROM GRIEG WORKS

The Santa Ana Municipal band will feature "Peer Gynt" music in the program of its first free winter concert, to be given Tuesday evening at the high school auditorium, according to D. C. Cianfoni, director.

"There can be little doubt that the 'Peer Gynt' music has done more to establish the fame of Edward Grieg than any of his other works," Cianfoni said. "Grieg was born in Bergen, Norway, June 15, 1843, and died there, Sept. 4, 1907.

"From the incidental music which he wrote to Ibsen's drama, 'Peer Gynt,' he arranged two suites for orchestra, the first one of which has become unusually popular.

"While the four movements which constitute the first suite are dependent upon a modern grand orchestra for production of Grieg's peculiar northern coloring, the band arrangement is a splendid one in every respect."

The director said the following brief suggestions will serve as explanatory notes for the various movements:

"Morning Mood" forms the prelude to the fourth act of the play.
It contains no trace of dramatic suggestion, and its serene tranquillity and beauty of conception stamp it as one of the most idyllic tone-poems ever written.

"The Death of Aase" is a brief and sombre dirge on the death of Peer's mother, scored entirely for reed instruments in the band, while in the orchestra it is scored for mute string instruments.

"Anitra's Dance" is the music of the dance with which the daughter of the Bodoni chief tries to beguile the inconstant Peer.

"In the Hall of the Mountain King" is taken from the accompaniment to the scene in which Peer, in the dwelling of the trolls, is beset and tormented by gnomes and imps.
The music of this movement has been characterized as a veritable hornet's nest.

Only .01 of an inch of rain fell here after 1 o'clock yesterday it was revealed when the gauge at the Hill and Son store was read at 7 o'clock this morning. The precipitation for the 24 hours was .31 of an inch, 30 falling between 7 a. m. and 1 p. m., yesterday. The greater part of the recorded fall was precipitated in a few minutes, when a rain of 10 minutes duration prevailed. The total for this season is little less than an inch more than it was on this date a year ago.

PISTOL RANGE IS NEAR COMPLETION

The Santa Ana American Legion, post No. 131, announced today that its pistol range, located in the basement of the Legion home, on Birch street, would be ready for "shoots" Thursday.

With the assistance of the Santa Ana police and the sheriff's office, the range has been built and, according to plans being formulated at the present time, indoor shoots will be held throughout the year.

A. B. Berry was named as chairman of a committee to represent the post in arranging shoots. The other member of the committee is Thomas Scudder. A police committee and a committee from the sheriff's office also will be named, to function with the legion committee, it was said.

The range is so arranged that any size pistol can be used and ammunition will be furnished at cost by the police, it was said.
The police use "reloaders," made by the officers. These will be furnished to legion members.

From Budapest comes the report that Heifetz, the famous violinist, has become engaged to the Hungarian actress Jusi Labasz.

PLEASANTS IS RENAME AS BEE INSPECTOR

J. E. Pleasants, veteran county bee inspector, was reappointed to his office by the county supervisors late yesterday, winning the post from a younger rival, Grover Mogley, who was supported for the appointment by a group of bee keepers of the county.

Another formidable group of bee men had signed a petition asking reappointment of Pleasants and appeared in person before the board to urge his retention in the work he has carried on for nearly a quarter-century.

As Pleasants, himself, expressed it at the meeting yesterday:
"The bee men want me and the bee men ought to know what they want."

The supervisors also seemed to believe that the bee men ought to have what they want. So Pleasants was reappointed.

A discussion of the expense of inspection, which was raised in connection with the appointment, resulted in a comparison of a suggested fee system with the inspector's salary. It was found that both amounted to approximately the same sum.

Ventures of Valencia

I received an invitation to visit "Skipper" A. L. Markwell and his new, palatial yacht, which awaits a gingerale christening at its moorings in Balboa. Markwell is a Los Angeles gem expert, sportsman of note and a his eight - passenger "Skylark" is the largest airplane

at Clover field.
He is familiar with the hushers of the west coast cities from Vancouver to Vera Cruz, having made port in all of them, and his comment upon the recent proposition to put to the voters to develop our port surely is based upon good judgment and a neutral viewpoint.

He said that approval of the voters would have advanced the interests of the community and he commends the sound vision of the sponsors of the project.

While in Balboa I met Capt.
Jimmy Riley, cavalry officer, veteran of many campaigns, including the Spanish war. He now is commandant of the soldiers' home, in San Mateo, and, while his modesty prohibits his talking much about his own exploits, he has entertained us with accounts of comrades' adventures. One of these, which occurred to "Old Dave" Warwick, is so fantastic and incredible, but nevertheless a matter of record, that I want to tell you about it.

Warwick, during a life of adventure, had a fancy to record his ports of call in tattooed pictures, until his body was pretty well covered with a lasting memorial.
Fighting in the Philippines, he became separated from his command and was lost in the jungles of the wild Moro country. After many hardships he made his way to other islands and finally was taken by the head hunting pygmy Igor-rotes. As he put it, he felt that his goose was cooked, and was sure of it when his ragged garments were torn from him and the implements of torture arranged. He seized a moment when the natives' vigilance seemed relaxed and fled toward the jungle. His captors followed, shouting and waving their deadly weapons, but none was discharged at him. Finally he came to an impenetrable wall of jungle and resolved to sell his life dearly.

Much to his surprise, the Igorrotes formed a circle about him and prostrated themselves. Their chieftains made signs of good respect, mingling with fear. It turned out that the spread American eagle, tattooed on his chest, the brilliantly colored snakes, dragons, flags, anchors and other designs, which covered his body, convinced the savages that Warwick was a supernatural being. He was welcomed into the chief's grass home and virtually was the king of the savages for three years. Then a party of white explorers came upon the tribe and secured his liberty. The Igorrotes loaded him with gifts, which included mummified heads of their enemies, and controlled their grief at his departure only upon his promise that he some day would return. I suppose that many

BIG DINNER, VAUDEVILLE AND ADDRESSES TO FEATURE MEET OF SANTA ANA LEGIONNAIRES

Plans for the January meeting of Santa Ana post, No. 131, American Legion, to be held tomorrow night, in the legion hall, on Birch street, indicate that the meeting will be one of the biggest held in the last several months, according to an announcement made today by Jules Markel, post commander.

The meeting will open at 6:30 with dinner served by the post auxiliary. Aside from the splendid dinner promised by the auxiliary, Markel announced that he will "treat" the post to a special course—a real southern Creole chicken gumbo.

Markel has purchased a number of chickens, 1000 oysters and other delicacies that go to make a southern gumbo, and members who miss this treat always will have something to regret, he said.

The program for the evening, aside from the usual business session of the post, is said to be one of the best arranged in the last year. Talent from the West Coast-Walker theater has been promised.

W. B. Williams, Frank Was and Homer Chaney, of the First National bank, will speak to the executive men concerning loans that may be received on their 20-year endowment policies, presented to them by the government in lieu of a bonus. The speakers also will discuss government insurance.

Jack Huston, of the Legion News, San Francisco, and state chef de gare of the "Forty and Eight" society, will address the members on the importance of the American Legion paper. He will be presented to the post by Joe Plank, chef de train, department of California, who is a member of the Santa Ana post. Louis Timson, veteran swimmer, who will represent the Orange county American Legion in the Catalina channel swim, also will be present. Timson is a Legion man, a member of the Lynn, Mass. post. He is the man to whom Gertrude Ederle is indebted for successfully negotiating the English Channel. Timson was on the boat accompanying Miss Ederle and, when the swim became most trying, swam alongside her, encouraging, coaching and coaxing her along. Timson was the first person with whom Miss Ederle shook hands upon leaving the water.

Timson later trained Mrs. Corson and is credited with her success in crossing the channel. He attempted the swim himself, but, after setting a speed record for half the distance, was forced to leave the water.

Miss Beatrice Meyer has taken the position of assistant in the Smith and Tutill undertaking parlors made vacant by the resignation of Miss Mary McNeill, who became Mrs. R. M. Johnson on January 3 in Ventura.

Dr. and Mrs. K. H. Sutherland, who have come here from San Luis Obispo to make their home, have located at 317 North Main street. Dr. Sutherland has taken the position of assistant county health officer made vacant by the resignation of Dr. A. N. Crain.

Dr. and Mrs. V. G. Presson have moved from 510 North Ross street to 530 South Broadway. They have been occupying the home of Mrs. S. Gard, who has returned from a six months' visit to Seattle, Wash. Recent guests for a week at the Presson home were their old friends, Mrs. Mary Rankin and her niece, Mrs. Edgar Hall, of Bloomfield, Ia., who went from here to Fresno.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard (Bart) Cock have moved to Los Angeles to reside until next September, when they will go to San Antonio, Tex., where Mr. Cock will finish his aviation course at Kelly Field, before entering the government service. He is now in the employ of the Fox Film company. Mrs. Cock was formerly Miss Gertrude Linsenhard of the Register circulation department.

Mrs. I. J. Chambers, of Huntington Park, is spending two weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Harris, of 1033 West Sixth street. She is the wife of Mrs. Harris' brother, who is in the employ of the Edison company and who was in Santa Ana to spend the week end.

W. D. Rudd, Santa Ana, manager of the National Cash Register company, and Mrs. Rudd, 2344 Fairmont avenue, left yesterday over the Union Pacific route for New York City, where Mr. Rudd will join the delegates from his company and attend the annual convention in Havana, Cuba. During her husband's absence, Mrs. Rudd will visit in New York City, Chicago and Cedar Rapids, Ia., where she has relatives.

Mrs. Ernest Kruse and her brother, Eric G. Smith, of Hannibal, Mo., who were here during the last illness of their mother, Mrs. H. J. McComb, of 526 East Pine street, whose funeral took place last Saturday from the Trinity Lutheran church, are leaving this evening via the Santa Fe lines to return to their eastern home.

Mrs. Alice Kensing and her mother, Mrs. Emma Mondell, left

TWO RECEIVERS TAKE CHARGE OF CHAPLIN RICHES

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—The bulk of Charlie Chaplin's millions was tied up by court order today, pending trial on the divorce complaint of his 18-year-old wife, Lita Gray.

W. I. Gilbert, attorney who defended Almee Semple McPherson, and Herman Spitzel, real estate operator, were appointed receivers and will handle the immense fortune, valued at more than $10,000,000, until a court decides its disposition.

Mrs. Chaplin, it was learned today, will demand 50 per cent of the community property, which is estimated at $10,000,000.

In obtaining the receivership for Chaplin's properties, the wife's attorneys told the court that the comedian had left the city and that "the chances of his return, if at all, are remote."

Rumored On Way to Paris
Rumors persisted here today that Chaplin had sailed secretly for Europe, and intended to establish residence in Paris, never to return to Hollywood.

Will Hays, czar of the film industry, with three aides, was scheduled to arrive at the movie capital tonight. His first order of business was said to be the Chaplin case.

Whether Hays will act to have Chaplin's films taken off the boards was a mooted question among members of the screen colony.

Any action the movie dictator may take will depend, it was believed, upon the nature of the counter-complaint which the screen clown's attorneys are preparing.

Lloyd Wright, counsel for Chaplin, claims that the comedian's answer to his wife's complaint will contain accusations as sensational as those filed by Mrs. Chaplin, which created a nation-wide sensation.

Detectives Shadow Lita
Chaplin is known to have had a corps of private detectives digging up alleged evidence against his girl wife, to be used in the divorce contest.

Wright denied that his client had left the United States, and asserted Chaplin would be in court to defend his case when it is called for trial.

The receivers, under bond of $200,000 each, began taking over the Chaplin property today, in compliance with the court order. The properties seized included the million-dollar Chaplin studio and the palatial Beverly Hills home, valued at $750,000.

Under the law, Mrs. Chaplin may now recouper the Beverly Hills home, which she deserted a month ago, after a midnight tiff with Chaplin during an all-night house party.

The receivership applies to both the community and separate property of Chaplin, which the wife values at $10,000,000 and $6,000,000 respectively.

Wife May Get Half
If Mrs. Chaplin is successful in her suit, she will receive at least half of the comedian's total fortune, according to legal authorities, or approximately $8,000,000, assuming her estimate of the holdings are correct.

The girl wife charges that the comedian has been moving considerable personal property out of the state, and a complicated legal battle over the amount of Chaplin's tangible assets is anticipated.

SERVANT RETIRES

ROME, Jan. 12.—"Linda," as Miss Teodolinda Banfi is called, has grown feeble and will retire shortly from the service of Pope Pius XI. She is 70 now and has served the pope ever since he entered the priesthood. For years she has prepared or looked after the pope's meals. The pope eats but little, usually soup, fish or vegetables with a small glass of wine making up his principal meal, usually taken about 2 p. m.

this morning by stage to return to their home in San Francisco, after visiting since before Christmas at the home of their sister and daughter, Mrs. Mary Carson, 519 Wellington avenue. The family enjoyed four family reunions of the three generations during the visit here of the northern relatives.

Mrs. Frank S. Adams, of 527 East Washington avenue, is spending a week in Long Beach at the home of her son, Harry Adams.

In the eleventh century rings made of horn and worn on the fourth finger were said to afford protection against epilepsy; while a pure gold ring was said to cure pains in the side.

Truth is stranger than fiction, and here's enough of it to win Diogenes' hand crocheted medal. There's a lot of merchandise in this advertisement that we have been looking at so long it haunts our dreams. Some of it isn't worth two little whoops, and some of it is all right, BUT—Over at the left are some items that are up-to-date stuff, but right down below here are the champion mistakes of life. If there is anything GOOD to say about anything, we say it, but we aren't particular. If you think this is funny, remember that it's tragedy to us. If there is anything you want here, TAKE IT AWAY! But it will have to sell itself, for we won't waste much time trying to get rid of it.

Wide Is Just What These Pants Are Not

The men say that wide trousers are the thing, and we guess they are, but you'd never know it to look at these. Some of them are a little wider than others, if that's any comfort. The materials are good, though, we'll say that.

A Good Clock Makes a Better Home

The long, gray days of winter need never be oppressive or lonely where a cheery, companionable clock pervades the room. Never obstructive, yet always gratifyingly there—raising its voice at intervals to the serene beauty of chiming—a good clock makes the home a more attractive place in which to live. Come and see our choice of mantel, boudoir, desk, wall and hall clocks. The prices are quite reasonable, the quality uniformly high.

Bridge Club Members Told Engagement of Their Hostess

The engagement of Miss Della Franzen to Theodore Hettinga was announced last night in a very unique way at the Franzen home on South Tustin street. Miss Nellie Wilkins of Orange, and Miss Franzen were to entertain at the January meeting of their bridge club, and they took this opportunity to announce the betrothal.

The guests arrived and bridge playing progressed in the usual manner. Miss Tessie Childers scored high and received a pretty framed motto. Second high score was made by Miss Veda Ball, who received a pink vanilla bag. Then the tables were grouped in the spacious dining room. Candles were lighted on each table, and the dainty pink tulle and sweet peas gave such a festive air, that some were beginning to wonder what it was all about. They didn't wonder long, however, for when they were seated, the names of the betrothed pair, on tiny cards, fell from the napkins as they were unfolded. A period of congratulations and good wishes followed, while the dainty salad, olives, sandwiches and chocolate were almost forgotten.

Miss Franzen has been teaching girls' physical education at the Frances Willard junior high school since her graduation from Pomona college. Mr. Hettinga is a young dairyman and cattle dealer of Hynes, and very much liked by all who know him. The young people plan to be married early in June.

Those present to hear the betrothal news and enjoy the hospitality of Miss Franzen and Miss Nellie Wilkins, were the Misses Veda Ball, Ruth Miller, Elfreda Biggin, Tessie Childers, Elizabeth Parslow, Ruth Langley, Persana Delming, Anita Summers, Dorothy Smith, Julia Magill, Gladys Campbell, Margaret Grant, Mrs. Evelyn Dixon, Mrs. Harry LeBard, Mrs. Mary Franzen, Mrs. George Franzen, Mrs. Edward Franzen and Mrs. J. J. Smith.

Club's Anniversary Is Celebrated

The "R" club, which was organized three years ago with just six charming young women, celebrated its third birthday with a trip to Long Beach on Friday night in honor of the occasion. Dinner was enjoyed at Lord and Taylor's, the management providing a special birthday cake with the proper number of tapers.

After dinner the club members attended a theater, those present being Mrs. McGill, Mrs. Robert Wilson, Mrs. James Coulson and Mrs. Jack Kahler, who have become matrons since the club was organized, and Miss Henrietta Lykka. The remaining member, Miss Dorothy Thurston was ill and not able to attend.

Ventura Wedding Of Early January

Friends of Miss Mary McNeill of 822 North Broadway, who for 11 years has been connected with Smith and Tuthill, and R. M. Johnson, formerly with the same firm and now in charge of Mr. Smith's ranch, will be surprised to learn that they were married in Ventura on Monday, January 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson returned from their honeymoon last Saturday and will be located in Tustin. Mrs. Johnson severed her connection with Smith and Tuthill on January 1, but gave no hint of her intention to take a new position, and details of the marriage are lacking.

The bride has hosts of friends here who will wish her and her husband much happiness in their wedded life.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Juvenile Music club will meet Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Dr. M. A. Patton home, 1603 French street, with Master Murray Patton as host. Election of officers will be featured and a program of early composers will be presented by young people of the club membership. Those on the program will represent some half dozen different teachers. All music or expression students under 13 years of age are eligible to membership and are asked to attend and take part.

The Occidental Tiger club (Orange county organization of Occidental students) will meet tomorrow night for 6:30 o'clock dinner at Ketter's cafe. Charles McDowell of Los Angeles, president of the alumni association, will be the principal speaker and approximately 40 members are expected to be present.

Santa Ana chapter O. E. S. Bridge club will be entertained Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Mrs. Nellie Young, 2727 North Flower street. Members unable to be present are asked to call the hostess at 4507.

Frances Willard P-T. A. members are reminded of the meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2:45 o'clock in the Washington building, with special emphasis placed on the importance and charm of the Laguna Beach artists' exhibit.

Business and Professional Women are promised an unusual treat at the noon luncheon next Monday at St. Ann's Inn when the famous Cotton Blossom Singers from Piney Woods school in Mississippi will give the program. Miss Doris James, manager of the organization, will be a guest and the chairman of the January committee, Miss Mayne Brightwell, hopes to introduce her as speaker.

MISS CHARLOTTE CHASE WEDS AT CHARMING HOME CEREMONY

Surrounded by relatives and close friends and amidst quantities of flowers, Miss Charlotte Elizabeth Chase, daughter of Mrs. Maude Chase of Los Angeles, last night became the bride of Lloyd M. Redmond, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Redmond, 2321 Spurgeon street, at a beautiful ceremony held at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hall, 2700 North Main street.

Preceding the 8 o'clock ceremony, was a musical program to which a little group of close friends contributed. Mrs. Bruce Switzer, formerly Miss Prudence Macomber, a bride in the same spacious home less than a year ago, presided at the piano, while Jack Langley was violinist, and Miss Lizette Phillips, soloist. Violin numbers included the favorite De Koven song, "O Promise Me" and "The Indian Love Call." Miss Phillips sang "All For You" and "I Love You Truly" and Mrs. Switzer served as accompanist and at the nuptial hour, played Lohengrin's wedding march as the processional to which the bridal party entered.

The impressive service of the Episcopal church was conducted by the Rev. W. L. H. Benton after the group of young people entered the flower decked room to take their places before him at a screen of ferns and pink sweet peas. Jack Hayden, of Hollywood, a cousin of the groom, and John Galbraith served as ushers while the Misses Marie Carothers of Costa Mesa and Mary E. Wall of this city were bridesmaids. They were gowned in charming frocks of orchid taffeta, identical in period style and color and each carried a golden shepherd's crook surmounted by a great cluster of pink sweet peas.

Miss Henrietta Chase served her sister as honor maid and was charming in pale pink chiffon with rhinestone and ostrich trimming. She carried an arm cluster of pink roses. Following her was the diminutive flower girl, adorable little Mary Alice Williams of Los Angeles, in filmy chiffon frock of pale pink and carrying a leaf-green basket from which she scattered rose petals.

Girlish Bride Enters
Miss Chase entered on the arm of her grandfather, Mr. Hall, who gave her in marriage at that point in the ceremony. She was a very lovely young bride indeed, her girlish charm accentuated by her period gown of ivory satin, its bouffant skirt veiled by the folds of tulle falling from a coronet of orange blossoms and

Young People Take Friends by Surprise

Stealing a march upon friends who were awaiting them in Orange, certain that they were to stage their wedding there, Miss Anna Pearl Baker and R. Kemp Keeler were quietly married in this city at 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night, and thus escaped the too-friending attentions of the waiting group.

For abduction plans had been made, and Mr. Keeler and his bride would have been separated at the altar had they gone to Orange. Instead they went to the city hall and besought the services of Judge J. F. Talbot who performed the wedding ceremony.

The young people are at present at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Maldon McKee, 802 West Fifth street, and will spend the coming week in Los Angeles and some of the beach cities before deciding where they will locate. They will make their home in this city where Mr. Keeler is associated with his brother in the Keeler Service station, 1140 South Main street.

Coaches to Play Tustin Cagemen

Coaches of Orange county high schools, will meet a basketball team composed of Tustin high school alumni and coaches in Andrews gymnasium tonight at 8 o'clock.

William Foote, Graham Harris and Howard Lutz, of Santa Ana; McMillan of San Juan Capistrano; Harry Shene, of Huntington Beach; Stewart White, of Orange, and Young of Garden Grove, will play with the Coaches' team. The Tustin aggregation will include Coach Don Brunsell and Humeson, T. Crawford, Cook, Lindsey, Prather, J. Crawford and Clark.

Brea Lumber Case Jury Disagrees

Unable to agree on a verdict, a jury in Brea trying E. C. Rath, charged with stealing lumber from the Brea-Olinda high school, was unable to agree yesterday and was discharged by City Recorder Kinsler.

According to Albert Launer, city attorney, a new trial will be held soon. Rath was defended by Jacob J. Lieberman, of Los Angeles.

Rath was arrested on complaint of J. C. Steele, formerly contractor on the high school job. Rath was employed as foreman.

WYOMING FIRM SUES
The firm of Linn and Smart, of Shoshoni, Wyo., has brought suit in superior court here against Mr. and Mrs. Claude Allen, former Wyoming residents, asking judgment for $1175.46 on a note, together with $200 for attorney fees. S. M. Davis, Santa Ana attorney, represents the plaintiff.

Betrothal Tea Given For Orange Girl at Jonathan Club

An engagement announcement that came coincident with the holiday season and will be of much interest to Santa Ana friends of the valley and wore as her sole ornament, the gift of Mr. Redmond, a handsome diamond dinner ring.

Mr. Redmond, assisted by his life-long friend, Paul Brown, met his bride at the altar and together they stood before the Rev. Mr. Benton to take their wedding vows. An interval of congratulations followed and then appropriate refreshments were served by a bevy of girl friends of the bride, the Misses Florence Renshaw, Helen Smith, Doris Knox and Margaret Foerster. A rich and delicious bride's cake formed part of the refreshment course and was cut by the young Mrs. Redmond.

At Home in Palmdale
Upon their return they will proceed to Palmdale where a charming bungalow awaits the many handsome gifts showered upon them. Miss Chase has been honored at different smart events since the engagement announcement, some of which have been duly chronicled. Of those which have not been reported, a very delightful shower was given by Mrs. Bruce Switzer and another by Miss Marie Carothers in Costa Mesa.

Her earlier school years were all spent by last night's bride, in Santa Ana, but when the family moved to Los Angeles, she attended Los Angeles high school, later, being associated with her mother, Mrs. Maude Chase, in her studio in the Angel city. Mr. Redmond is county surveyor of Los Angeles county.

Among the many guests at the wedding were a number from other cities. These included Mrs. M. J. Williams, Mrs. Major Dillmore, Miss Dorothy Dilworth and James Dale Dilworth, Mrs. Farrell, Mrs. Florence Williams, Miss Mary Alice Williams, Mrs. William Sullivan, Mrs. J. C. Lancaster, George Furman, Los Angeles; Miss Margaret Foerster, Crawford, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Fleisher, Santa Paula; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Redmond, Garden Grove; Jack Hayden, Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Shafer, Beverly Hills; Crawford Cate, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Lizzie Delaney, Long Beach; Mrs. Carothers, Miss Marie Carothers, John Carothers, Mrs. Roberts and Miss Minna Schraep, Costa Mesa.

When Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Foster of 1003 Oak street, celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Saturday, January 15, they will have the unique pleasure of entertaining one of the bridesmaids who assisted at the nuptials on that wedding day fifty years ago, the bridegroom's cousin, now Mrs. Jennie Foster Curry of Camp Curry.

Mrs. Curry will make an extended visit with her Santa Ana relatives and will aid them in celebrating the important day properly. The celebration will include a family dinner and also a reception afternoon and evening. Mr. and Mrs. Foster will maintain "open house" naming their reception hours as from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7 to 10 o'clock at night, and hope to greet all their friends. No formal invitations are being issued, instead the hosts are announcing informally their plans for an "at home," hoping the word will reach all friends and relatives.

Harry Giddings, Richfield Dairy Owner, Succumbs

BREA, Jan. 12.—Harry P. Giddings, 55, a prominent rancher of the Richfield district, owner of the Orangehurst dairy, passed away in the Pasadena hospital yesterday. He had been in poor health for more than a year and about 10 days ago submitted to an operation. To all appearances he was making satisfactory improvement and his family and friends believed that in a short time he would be restored to health.

He is survived by his wife, Jennie P. Giddings; five sons, David, William P., Harrison J., George P., and Robert W. Giddings, all of Richfield; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvard Giddings, of Sheboygan Falls, Wis.; one brother, John D. Giddings, of Fon du Lac, Wis., and two sisters, Mrs. Doris Leavens of Antioch, Wis., and Mrs. Genevieve Richardson, of Sheboygan Falls, Wis.

Funeral services will be held at the Hilgenfeld-Rollins chapel, Brea, on Monday at 2 p. m. The Masonic lodge of Yorba Linda will have charge of the services and interment will be made in Loma Vista cemetery.

Bridge Players Enjoy Friendly Afternoon At Country Club

The upstairs card room at Santa Ana Country club where Mrs. Irwin F. Landis yesterday greeted members of her bridge club, was eloquent of the rapidly approaching spring months, for Mrs. Landis had chosen to use great sprays of pussy-willow with their gray velvet catkins, and quantities of fragrant stock with delicate rosy flowers, to deck the room as a background for luncheon tables.

Through the windows were to be seen the rising tiers of the mountains in one direction and the plain sloping down to the sea in another. And the scenic charms commanded by the windows were not the least enjoyable part of the day. Following luncheon, the tables were speedily prepared for bridge and in the contest which followed, Mrs. Roy Hall scored highest and received the handsome sandwich tray selected by the hostess as prize.

Club members and guests enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Landis were Mrs. J. P. Baumgartner, Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, Mrs. William E. Otis, Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, Mrs. Edward M. Nealey, Mrs. E. E. Keech, Mrs. J. E. Liebig, Mrs. Roy Hall, Mrs. John E. Gowen, Mrs. Frank H. Patterson and Mrs. Wyckoff Hoxie.

Miss Lasby Reviews Latest Wells Book

Not a book of fiction as it is often called but a book filled with the philosophy of the writer is H. G. Wells' newest book, "The World of William Clissold" according to Miss Jennie Lasby who reviewed it last night when the Santa Ana Book club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Nealley of Tustin.

Miss Lasby stated that often times those reading the book were convinced that the philosophy of William Clissold was that of the writer but that she believed that the philosophy, not only of William Clissold but also that of his brother, Dickon, taken together made up the views that Wells has about life.

The plot is of minor consequence, Miss Lasby said, as the story proceeds through the two volumes filled for pages with conversation between characters created merely to express an opinion of the author. She said that these two books held the summing up of all of the views expressed in the 50 books which have been written by Wells during a long and useful period.

Of especial interest according to the reviewer were the two accounts which summed up in amazingly concise manner the history of the whole world. Miss Lasby was also impressed by the discussions of religion and of education which appear in the book. She said that the reason that the books were so worth while was that persons who read them were made to think for themselves even though they violently disagreed with the theories of the writer.

Claims Burglar Tried to Pull Sheets Off Bed

A burglar, in the home of Mrs. M. Duffie, 514 South Sycamore street, at 11 o'clock last night, tried to pull the sheets off the bed in which Mrs. Duffie lay asleep, according to a report filed today with police.

Mrs. Duffie reported that when she felt the sheets being jerked from the bed she screamed and the man ran from the house. Police hurried to the house after Mrs. Duffie had telephoned the station, but were unable to find any trace of the intruder. Nothing was reported stolen.

Nothing harder to do is. To be a good baby is a profession in itself. Few adults could stand up under what a baby has to take, lying down. Babies don't even have a union to protect them. It just has to stand by, has the "old baby." And we know of one baby that spent several years one night over at grandma's house.

Stop a moment, adults all that now are, or once were babies. With a lot of funny faces poked down at you—each one the same—yet different—with queer oozles, whizzes, snoopsies, punkadoodles and what-please-a-baby-noises-are-there, you are supposed to coo. Not to laugh out loud. And when you sleep, you are not supposed to blaze up, tho' you're plenty hot enough.

The eats rather help to make up many of the shortcomings. When the bottle with the Excelsior is the right temperature, then it is that ma has paid in full. For then a baby gets its Gal-curse-ian coloratura honed up and sings of joy, all the while pondering why in all other cases those big-overgrown bossy personages don't show equal sense.

EDUCATION DAY IS OBSERVED BY S. A. ROTARIANS

The whys and wherefores of Rotary were gone over yesterday at the weekly luncheon of the Santa Ana club. The day was designated as Rotary education day, which included a school of information for members of the club in relation to the purposes of the worldwide organization.

W. C. Jerome presided, with various members of his committee taking part in the discussion. Mac O. Robbins, who was president of the club the first year following organization of the Santa Ana club, in February, 1920, told the story of the organization of the first Rotary club in Chicago by a lawyer, who longed for fellowship.

International Rotary has grown and expanded in ideals as well as in membership, said Robbins.

Charles D. Brown reviewed the history of the Santa Ana club. An act from the Yost theater was part of the entertainment program.

Yesterday, a formal charge of membership was given by Fred C. Rowland, president of the Santa Ana club, to six members, who have been received into the club in the last six months. The six are Stanley E. Goode, real estate; J. G. Campbell, outdoor advertising; Charles Rutledge, gas service; J. L. McBride, highway engineer; George Duncan, public schools; Bill Stauffer, bonds.

LEARD RETAINED AS PILOT OF MISSIONS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—"Wild Bill" Leard, who took hold of the San Francisco Mission club of the Pacific coast league late in the season last year and brought a winning spirit that saved the team from landing in the second division, has signed a contract to manage the club next season.

Announcement of the contract was made today by William McCarthy, president of the Missions.

Leard is one of the best known baseball men on the coast. He piloted the Idaho Falls club of the Utah-Idaho league last season, before taking over the Mission management.

32 More Pardons Granted In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 12.—Thirty-two full pardons, two restorations of citizenship, five paroles, one furlough extension, three bond forfeitures, one commutation and two full sentences, remissions, were granted yesterday by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, making a grand total of 3176 clemency proclamations in her administration thus far.

New Champion In Coffee Drinking Downs 85 Cups

FERGUS FALLS, Minn., Jan. 12.—After downing 85 cups of coffee in seven hours and 10 minutes elapsed time, Gust Comstock turned a pale face away from the 86th and said weakly:

"That's all."

The barbershop porter's endurance and speed placed him far out in front of all contenders to his throne.

After a one hour respite, between noon and 1 p. m., when he submitted himself to the questions of admirers, the world's champion attacked the drinking process with new vigor and in one short hour drank 21 cups.

Comstock's closest rivals are H. A. Streety, of Dallas, Tex., and Perry Wilson of Amarillo, Tex., who have 71 and 70 cups, respectively to their credit.

LATHROP TEAM DEFEATS POLY 'C' QUINTETTE

Coach Ferlie Scott's Julia C. Lathrop junior high school quintet evened matters with Coach Lynn Crawford's Class C team from the high school yesterday, winning a practice tilt, 19 to 11. The high school squad won last week's game by staging a last-minute rally to win by a four-point margin.

In yesterday's game, Kimball Pratt, Lathrop's seventh grade guard, secured eight points to win high point honors.

The Lathrop men are working hard in preparation for their game with the strong Emerson junior high school team which will play the local boys Friday on the Lathrop court. On Friday of next week the Lathrop men will journey to Pomona to play the Coffman junior high school of that city.

The Lathrop lightweight teams will start their series of games with the Willard teams next week to decide the city championship in the lightweight divisions.

Puget Sound Too Cold for Suicide

TACOMA, Wn., Jan. 12.—The waters of Puget sound are too cold in January for a suicide. George Reese, 45, a mill worker, tried it and changed his mind after he had waded in until the water was at his shoulders. "I couldn't stand it," he told officers.

EVANGELIST IS VACATIONING AS SHE GOES EAST

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Almee Semple McPherson was vacationing in an Arizona resort today, preliminary to her evangelistic barnstorming of the country, which will open at Denver, Saturday night.

The evangelist, accompanied by a small personal staff and several newspapermen, expects to arrive in Denver Saturday morning, and will speak there Saturday, Sunday and Monday nights.

Her next stop, after Denver, will be at Ogden, Utah, and then she will go to Kansas City. From Kansas City she will head eastward, visiting all the larger cities, including Washington, D. C., Boston, New York and Baltimore.

S. S. Hahn, attorney for Mrs. Wiseman, star state's witness in the McPherson case which was dismissed Monday, announced that his client was dicker for a contract to make a lecture tour also.

According to Hahn, Mrs. Wiseman was misrepresented by District Attorney Asa Keyes, who ordered the McPherson case dropped on grounds that his chief witness had perjured herself at the preliminary hearing.

"She was made the goat," Hahn said, "and when she goes on this speaking tour she will tell the inside story about the dismissal of the case. It is not true that she changed her story, as claimed by the district attorney."

WORTHLESS CHECK CHARGE DISMISSED

SAN JOSE, Jan. 12.—Charges of circulating a worthless check, filed against Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman, recent co-defendant with Almee Semple McPherson in connection with charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice, have been dismissed here in justice court. Mrs. Wiseman was alleged to have given the check to S. Bloom, a tailor, in payment for a frock she ordered made.

TOOL COURT CASE SETTLEMENT MADE

The Starkey Manufacturing company, of Orange, and Pete Krauch, settled their dispute over a ground leveling implement, after two days' trial in Superior Judge E. J. Marks' court, with a decision entered today, dividing honors of war between the litigants.

The Starkey company was awarded approximately half of its claim of $513.18 against Krauch, the exact judgment being $258.15. A counter claim of Krauch for $300 damages was denied by the court.

The dispute centered on the price to be charged Krauch for the leveling implement, which was made for him by the Starkey company. Krauch claimed there was a contract price not to exceed $225. The plaintiff declared the job was to be done on a "time and material" basis, which figured $454.16, to which was added an old bill of $1.08. Krauch declared that the implement, when delivered to him, was defective, and had caused him losses on contracts in which he attempted to use it. He demanded $300 as compensation.

Judge Marks allowed the old bill, amounting to $1.08, and granted judgment for half of the bill for the leveling implement, or $227.08. Attorney Milburn Harvey represented the plaintiff at the trial, Franklin C. West appearing as counsel for Krauch.

Means to Promote Shipping Outlined

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Plans by which the U. S. government may promote commercial shipping under the American flag, either by private or government ownership, are outlined in a report submitted to congress by the shipping board. Appropriations for operating expenses and for replacement and improvement are necessary, the report stated, if the government is to develop the merchant marine.

Successful operation under private ownership can be achieved only through new legislation to provide direct or indirect federal aid, the report said.

ASSISTANTS NAMED

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—Appointment of attorneys, J. M. Burke, of Oakland, and F. J. Perry, of San Francisco, as assistants to Fred S. Wood, newly-appointed chief of the legislative counsel bureau, was announced by Wood today.

MEASURED BY QUALITY INSTEAD OF BY QUARTS

THE Crescent label stands for a unit of measure... measure of Quality as well as of Quantity!

A quart is a measure of quantity only...so in order to provide the dairy farmer an incentive to produce milk of higher and higher quality, Crescent Creamery Company pays the producing dairies on the basis of tested richness and food value of the milk. A premium is placed on richer milk...milk of greater food value.

Thus it pays the Crescent dairyman to constantly improve his herds...to keep only the finest milk cows...to insure cleanliness with the most modern equipment and methods of sanitation...to protect his investment by constantly improving the quality of his milk.

Crescent laboratory tests, like every other factor in Crescent Creamery service, leave nothing to chance. A constant record is kept on every producing dairy.

That is one of the reasons why this Southern California organization has grown steadily in public esteem for more than 24 years.

SEEKS BETTER SALARIES FOR SCHOOL HEADS

Salary increases for county superintendents of schools, registration of minors, bonding of fiscal agents, audits of school funds and actuarial investigation of the teachers' retirement fund are among recommendations to be submitted by Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, to the state legislature, according to advices received by Santa Ana school officials.

Referring to the inadequate compensation allowed county superintendents in most counties, the state superintendent remarks: "Many Decline Re-election. Several of the most efficient county school superintendents declined to seek re-election in 1926 because of the inadequacy of compensation provided. I have, in two previous reports, recommended reasonable increases in the salaries of these important school officers. The failure to enact laws in accordance with these recommendations has resulted in losses to the schools. I reaffirm the recommendation and urge the granting of adequate salaries to all county superintendents."

Approval of Wood's recommendations was voiced by J. A. Cranston, Santa Ana city superintendent of schools, who pointed out that, although charged with one of the biggest jobs in the county, County Superintendent Mitchell receives less than district superintendents and high school principals. Cranston thought that the salary of the county superintendent should be commensurate with the duties and responsibilities of the office.

Cranston also voiced his approval of Wood's recommendation for a revision of the law relating to the registration of minors. The state superintendent sets forth his observations as follows:

Law Does Not Function

"The present law, providing for registration of minors, does not function. I recommend that it be amended so as to provide for registration by competent census marshals every third year in all districts except districts maintaining a continuous census. The law also should make provision for reports of registration to the state school office by all districts; for penalties on parents and guardians who fail to give the required information, and penalties for failure to make registration and make report thereon in accordance with law."

In the matter of bonding school fiscal agents, the state official recommends that school boards be authorized, empowered and required to put all school employees, handling school moneys, under adequate bond for faithful performance of their respective trusts.

The state superintendent also suggests that each school board be required by law to provide for the proper auditing of all funds raised by student bodies or other student organizations using the name of the school.

WELL, WHY DON'T PARENTS START MOVE AGAINST HIGH COST OF RAISING CHILDREN?

The "high cost of babies" is alarming California officialdom. It isn't so much the original cost of the new child, estimated to average $120, but the upkeep which boosts the expense, according to L. E. Ross, chief of the state bureau of vital statistics.

Santa Ana merchants agree with Ross. J. C. Horton, of the Horton Furniture store, and Ira Chandler, of Ira Chandler and son, announce that prices of baby carriages, high chairs, cribs and bassinets have increased greatly.

It was not so long ago that a bed for baby was made by the father of the household, who needed only to step into his yard, fell a tree and build the cradle. Nowadays, however, a method so simple is out of the question. Instead of taking a few hours from his work to build a crib or cradle, the modern father must take hours, after his work is completed, to do something which will earn the money with which to purchase a bassinet at the furniture store.

The time was when the neighborhood carpenter, for a small consideration, would prepare a crib for baby, according to various furniture dealers.

Later, of course, furniture stores were established and a common occurrence, in 1875, was for horrified mothers to refuse to purchase a crib costing $2 because of the unthought-of extravagance of paying such a price for a bed for so small a person as the baby.

Later, in 1900, $5 or $7 for considered rather wasteful, but, as many mothers considered their offspring worth that amount of money, nothing was said. However, at the present time, the cheapest bed for baby costs at least $8.50 and one may easily spend $20, according to Horton and Chandler.

Persons finding it necessary to purchase baby furniture are expressing their beliefs that it is time that California officialdom become alarmed to the extent of taking more or less drastic measures curtailing the "high cost of babies."

SHOE STORE MAN LEAVES FOR EAST

The Southern Pacific's new fast train east today carried J. H. Ray, vice president and general manager of Ray Brothers chain shoe stores, for an extended buying trip to the various factories of the Craddock-Terry Shoe company, in Milwaukee, Kansas City, Lynchburg, Va., and to the style centers of New York and through the east.

Ray remained until today to start east after satisfying himself that the semi-annual sales at all the stores in Southern California would get under way on Friday. He said yesterday:

"From the results which we obtained the first days of our winter sale, we feel confident that this is bound to be the greatest merchandising event in the history of any chain of shoe stores in Southern California."

"We feel deeply indebted to The Register, the only newspaper medium in this locality used to promote this sale for our Santa Ana store. Through its circulation and support, we have been able to achieve the publicity necessary to make this event so successful. Our statement that our stocks are kept fresh and new every six months by cleaning up all the styles remaining from the last season is absolutely correct and truthful."

"My trip through the east will furnish us with the first-hand information which guides this institution in buying the very newest and latest in footwear."

CLUB TO HOLD MEET IN ORANGE

More than 150 members of the Orange County Trojan club, the alumni organization of the University of Southern California, residing in Orange county, will meet Wednesday evening, January 19, in Orange, for their first meeting this year. Samuel E. Lucas, of Anaheim, vice president of the club, will preside over the meeting, which will open with a dinner, at 6:30 o'clock, in the Women's clubhouse, Orange.

An attractive program is planned, including speakers from the University of Southern California, in Los Angeles, and also students from the Trojan campus.

The Orange County Trojan club draws its membership from Santa Ana, Anaheim, Orange, Fullerton, La Habra, Garden Grove and Huntington Beach.

Callahan Winner Over Joe Jawson

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Mushy Callahan, junior welterweight titleholder, took eight of ten rounds at Vernon last night and won an easy verdict over "Iron Jawed" Joe Jawson, of Milwaukee.

Jawson, one of the toughest and gamiest fighters ever to show here, took only one round, the ninth. The third was even.

In the sixth frame Callahan hung a short right hook on Jawson's ear and the latter took to the canvas for a count of two.

At no time during the fight was Callahan pressed but he was unable to seriously hurt the Milwaukee mauler.

GOOD YEAR IS PREDICTED BY ESPEE OFFICIAL

A good year and a prosperous one is the forecast made for 1927 by L. B. Valla, district freight and passenger agent for Southern Pacific company, who today returned from San Francisco, where he attended a three-day conference of the company's traffic officers, gathered to discuss business conditions and to plan refinements of service in the handling of traffic.

"There should be little, if any, falling off in prosperity during the coming year," Valla said. "The nation's business is generally good and this satisfactory condition is bound to be reflected throughout the west."

"Faster and more dependable freight service has placed the nation's buying on a hand-to-mouth basis, enabling manufacturers and merchants to release, for productive purposes, many millions of dollars, which otherwise would be tied up in high inventories."

Freight Records Broken

"In spite of this, the greatest volume of freight ever offered for shipment in any year was loaded on Southern Pacific's Pacific lines during 1926 and all freight loading records for the railroads as a whole were broken."

"It is obvious that rapid and profitable turn-overs must have been made on the great bulk of the commodities thus handled and that business is not indulging in the excessive and speculative buying which heretofore has marked every peak of American prosperity immediately before the coming of depressions."

"Reports from the company's eastern agents confirm earlier predictions that 1927 will be a year of heavy passenger travel. With the tourist influx will come many settlers and home-seekers, creating new demands for homes, which should work to the advantage of the building trades."

Order New Locomotives

"Southern Pacific started the year by placing one order for nearly two and one-half million dollars' worth of new locomotives and rolling stock, all of it to be built in the company's western shops."

"Plans for new and nation-wide advertising for our state, calling attention not alone to scenic attractions, but to agricultural, manufacturing and business opportunities, were discussed at the meeting. These matters also will receive extensive publicity through the company's foreign agencies."

"All signs point to a year of satisfactory business conditions, continued buying, plentiful credit and steady employment; a year that at worst will not fall far below the high records established in 1926."

MORGAN SUSPENDED BY NEW YORK BOARD

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion, today was suspended indefinitely by the State Athletic commission for failing to make his division weight in last week's bout with Phil McGraw, Detroit lightweight. The fight was won by McGraw.

Morgan weighed in at 131½, although 130 pounds is the junior lightweight limit. The commission had given the champion permission to box outside his class, with the provision he weigh 130 pounds or less.

The commission ruled that the champion must defend his title against a recognized challenger within 40 days, presumably signifying that the suspension would be lifted as soon as Morgan signed for a championship fight.

ASK CHANGE IN ABSENCE RULES FOR OFFICIALS

A proposal to amend the political code of the state, with reference to the laws regulating leaves of absence required when public officials travel out of the state, was discussed late yesterday by the county supervisors, who decided to have the amendment introduced at the present session of the legislature.

Supervisor S. H. Finley, of Santa Ana, presented the matter to the board, and was instructed to forward a draft of the amendment to Assemblyman C. D. Ball, at Sacramento, with the request that Dr. Ball introduce such a bill. The proposal is identical with a bill that was passed by the legislature two years ago, but which met with a veto from Governor Richardson.

Under the proposed amendment, officials desiring to leave the state for not more than five days, could do so without obtaining a leave of absence from the board of supervisors. Any absence of more than five days and not more than two months could be authorized by the board of supervisors. If the official expected to be absent for more than two months he would be required to get approval not only from his county board of supervisors, but from the governor also.

At present a permit from the county board of supervisors is required for a trip beyond the borders of the state for any period of time.

Guard Against "Flu" "My Twenty-Four Hours"

With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches rub on good old Musterole.

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

By Benito Mussolini, Premier of Italy

as told to

THOMAS B. MORGAN, Rome Manager of the United Press.

Copyright 1927 by United Press Associations.
All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or in part prohibited in all parts of the world.

(This is the sixth of a series of articles on his daily life and work by Benito Mussolini, as told to Thomas B. Morgan, Rome manager of the United Press. Each article in this series has been personally revised, corrected and approved by Premier Mussolini.)

Long hours devoted steadfastly to work come natural to me. I do not have to be forced to apply myself to the daily tasks, be they the mere routine of every day or other new phases in the affairs of the nation. As the inevitable and never ending mass presents itself daily I am ready to undertake it, willingly, anxious to accomplish until the day's tasks are brought to a close. Work is a passion with me, even the most monotonous routine finds me concentrated on it until it is completed.

This natural bent for work, I attribute to four things: first, my temperament; second, my training; third, my heritage; and fourth, the indomitable will to reach the goal I propose to attain.

My temperament is a restless motive power. It is a force which propels me. It is present in me to be exploited, to be turned to this or that advantage as my will indicates. I must be doing something. If there is nothing to be done I create something to be done. My whole life has been dominated by this temperament. I have always been actuated to do something. My life has been filled with momentous times for me and through them all I have been driven forward by this force. When I have faced disaster and defeat, this power has kept forcing me onward dauntless for the future and sure of final success. Whenever there was a break in the steady march to the goal, it helped me take up the path and continue always forward toward the aim. I have never known lagging behind. I have had many things to balk me but I have kept going and going, filled with a perseverance which was bound to reach its mark. As a child, I met a child's reverses but kept on. When I faced the world as a man I seemed to be going squarely into difficulty but I plodded onward with my whole strength and fiber. I worked hard with my hands and, the time I had to myself, I devoted to culture and preparation. I was ever on the alert. I battled for what I conceived right. I went to war. I fought with that same spirit. I returned and continued the fight, am still fighting and will continue, urged by my spirit until my task is done.

Must Be Busy

And, in my adolescent years, this temperament, coupled with hardship, drilled me for the tasks which later in life I was to face. The adversity of my youth, stretching year after year, trained me to meet difficulty and meet it by hard and severe work. It was inevitable that this constant grind to keep body and soul together and the desire to use my spare time in accomplishing some good would create of me a working automaton, more active and more powerful as the years passed. Idleness was unknown to me, for even when I tramped from town to town in search of work, I never failed to take along a volume of poems or philosophy. Work had become in me an ingrained habit. A beneficial remorse seized me when I was not engaged in some useful effort. I was indeed unhappy when there was not something to do. I was one out of my world.

It is just such training, I think, that should be given to our children. They should be drilled in achievement. They should be saturated with this spirit of work. It should be a part of their physical and mental equipment. The years of adolescence should be dedicated to the formation of sound habits and in solid stand throughout life. I fear for those in our schools and universities, who fool away their time in useless social pastime. The growing years are the formative years, and habits and rules of life should be inculcated which remain the dominating quality, regulating their future and determining their good to the world and mankind.

I believe that as much liberty as possible should be permitted the child to determine his natural bent. Perhaps one could call this a period of experimentation, of useful experimentation to find out what he is best adapted for. Once, however, this natural inclination has been discovered, the line of the child's conduct should be fixed toward the aim determined. Severe application to duty and the cultivation of rules of physical and mental conduct ingrained in the individual are imperative needs to enable him to achieve the ends to which he may dedicate his life.

Ancestors

My ancestors so far back as we can trace, were devoted to the soil. I come of stock whose long hours in the fields in the region of Bologna for centuries have developed a race of sturdy progeny, through whose veins coursed the blood of countless generations of tireless toilers. Work has a heritage passed on from generation to generation. My father left the soil for the forge and anvil, where fire and iron knotted the muscles of his sturdy frame. My mother was a zealous searcher and teacher of knowledge. They have left me a priceless heritage in the body and mind with which I am endowed.

Then, above and beyond my acquired and natural zeal of work, I have the great aim set before me to make my people great and to restore to them the glory that was theirs. My goal has been set. I look into the future and there I see the mark I have fixed. It stands as the powerful exhortation, prevailing on me to achieve, keeping me steadfastly fixed, firm in my purpose to reach the end. My fourteen and sixteen hours of daily toil are as nothing when I behold before me the promise which the future holds. This passion to accomplish for my people draws me to my task, I will not let one lot or little go undone. That the great aim may be realized, that Italy may take her place in the forefront amongst the nations of the earth.

Stern, unrelenting duty transcends all to bind me to my task. There is the imperious "must" compelling the daylong toil to go on.

The toll of the day must be done, for tomorrow will be another day, too, with its tasks and exertions. Never shall that which can be done today be put off until tomorrow. Even into the night the work continues that today's work be done today, to leave for tomorrow tomorrow's own toll.

The day long I am in action. I vary my effort. This variation itself permits a diversion of the thought processes so that I make one task the complement of the other, one becomes the repose for the other. There is always some one process working when others may be resting. I am therefore constantly producing though all my faculties may not be in operation. I need therefore ask for no respite. I cannot rest. A day's idleness clogs and puts my processes out of gear. The short suspension my duty would allow would serve to no purpose. I either must take a long rest or keep on going. I cannot suspend for a long time, for my life is too full of motion. Each stop requires adjustment. My machine is best when kept in action. I am able thus to dedicate my life to my work and intend to continue unceasingly and severely at it until the end, then it reposes there, be it I await it in the great beyond.

(The next of Premier Mussolini's articles in this series will appear in tomorrow's Register. The subject is "I Eat to Live." Mussolini tells why he has refused to "dig his grave with his teeth," and how he has arranged his diet to give him the maximum physical and mental efficiency. He has also changed the diets of the Italian people.)

Van Antwerp's Annual Silk Sale

(FORMERLY SPICER'S)

Owing to the many inquiries made by our patrons during the past few weeks, we feel it our duty to announce at this time that this store will hold in the near future its

Annual Spring Silk Selling Event

To those who know about the wonderful Silk Sales held in the past, this announcement will be received with a great deal of pleasure. To those who are strangers among us, we wish to say that our Silk Sales, originated by this store in a big way, are the greatest of their kind in the West.

Our eastern buyer has returned with plenty of bargains to take care of the usual large demands made upon us. He has been extremely fortunate in securing the best values the silk industry could give.

The prices during this event will be extremely low and the quality the best—such as has built up this well established organization in Santa Ana. Van Antwerp's, or Spicer's, Silk Sales are known in every household and will continue to be known by the extremely important values offered.

We know this announcement will be appreciated by all, inasmuch as your wants can be considered in advance and preparations made for Spring sewing.

We know that it will be worth your while to wait for this silk event even more so than in the past.

Watch for further announcements pertaining to the date of this great sale and full details.

Solon Mushes Way To Alaska Capital

NOME, Alaska, Jan. 12.—State legislators, who complain when they have to travel overnight to reach the capital, should consider Thomas Gaffney, representative-elect to the Alaskan legislature.

Gaffney was musing outboard from Nome today with dogs. When he reaches Nenana behind his team, he will take the government railroad to Seward. From Seward to Juneau, the journey will be by steamer.

The legislature convenes at Juneau the first Tuesday in March and Gaffney calculates he will just about make it.

AMENDMENT FAVORED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The senate agriculture committee has voted to report favorably to the senate the Capper amendment to the packers and stockyards act, giving the federal government control over private yards of large packers.

DIRECTORS FOR ENSUING YEAR ARE NAMED BY BUSINESS MEN

200 in Attendance at Annual Meeting of Association, at St. Ann's Inn

PROGRAM NUMBERS ARE WELL RECEIVED

'After Satiety' Is Subject Of Address Delivered by Prominent L. A. Banker

Fourteen new directors, seven from each organization, were elected last night to serve for the coming year at the annual joint meeting and banquet of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association and the Orange County Credit association, operating as the Business Men's association. The annual meeting was held at St. Ann's Inn.

The new directors are: Merchants and Manufacturers' association—Neil Beisel, L. D. Cotling, B. V. Curry, E. T. Mateer, Arnold Peek, Herbert P. Rankin and Robert Speed.

Orange County Credit association—Harry L. Hanson, J. S. Hill, N. E. Lentz, Ed T. McFadden, Earl Matthews, H. L. Miller and William Tway. Included in the new directorates are several old directors.

The new directors will meet January 15, at 7 p. m., in the offices of the Business Men's association, Hill building. A new operating committee and new officers will be elected.

Nearly 200 Present
Close to 200 men and women attended last night's banquet, which preceded the business meeting. The company gathered early, having been bidden for 6:30 p. m. Shortly after that time, the doors to the handsomely decorated dining room of the inn were thrown open and all were seated.

The tables were attractive in snowy linen and decorations of Santa Ana flowers. Every possible arrangement had been looked after by the committee in charge, assisted by R. L. Blisby, manager of the inn.

Herbert P. Rankin, chairman of the operating committee of the association, presided over the program, which, in addition to an address by D. M. Reynolds, prominent Los Angeles banker, was replete with entertainment features.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the Santa Ana Conservatory Junior String quartet, composed of the following:

Failure of Bank Results In Suit On Stockholder

Owning bank stock is a pleasant occupation, sometimes. At other times—not so good. It all depends on your D. If your D stands for dividends, fine. But sometimes it stands for deficit.

All of which might be the rumination of Clara Closs, formerly of Fulton, S. D., now a resident of Orange county and defendant in a lawsuit because she owned four shares of stock in the Farmers' State bank, of Fulton.

The bank failed and F. R. Smith, superintendent of banks in the state of South Dakota, has filed suit in superior court here against Clara Closs for $400, the par value of her stock, which sum is said to represent her liability as a stockholder to meet the indebtedness of the bank.

Norman T. Mason, of Los Angeles, is counsel for the bank superintendent, acting for the attorney general of South Dakota.

TOASTMASTERS INSTITUTE NEW CLUB DIVISION

A new section of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. Toastmasters' club was instituted Monday night, in the association building. About 25 men were present, most of whom enrolled. Permanent organization was deferred to next Monday night in order to give the men an opportunity to become better acquainted with their work. At that time, it was announced, officers probably will be elected and systematic instruction will be started.

Monday night's program was given principally by members of the older division of the Toastmasters' club. C. E. Hawk, Ridley Smith, C. W. Rowland, G. O. Berry and H. W. McAlenon spoke briefly, outlining some of the advantages of the work of the club.

There is room in the new club for several additional members, according to Ralph Smedley, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Men who wish to take advantage of this opportunity may enter next Monday night.

Among those who enrolled last night were Tom Oglesby, E. L. Matthews, D. L. Kissling, K. C. Berger, Guy H. Christian, George Lachry, Reginald Hartley, Wilbur E. Lewis, L. E. Lister, Grant Henderson, R. I. Matthews, J. B. Head, A. J. Rutter, K. Elliott and T. J. Carr.

CALIFORNIA BATHING BEAUTIES WHO WILL APPEAR ON PROGRAM AT ANNUAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEET

ORANGE COUNTY GIRL CHARGED WITH HOLDUPS

Jennie Freshour, alias "Peggy" Freshour and formerly Jennie Orosca, Orange county girl, is being held in the Riverside county jail for Los Angeles officers, while a search is being made for her husband, Orval Freshour, wanted, with his wife, in Los Angeles, on charges that the couple have participated in a series of holdups in Los Angeles and vicinity during the last two years, according to word received here.

The girl denies that she has participated in approximately 50 holdups, but does admit, according to

200 RESERVATIONS ALREADY RECEIVED BY GEORGE RAYMER FOR ANNUAL CHAMBER MEET

With more entertainers being added daily to the program for the annual joint meeting of the two divisions of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, to be held Monday night at St. Ann's Inn, nearly 200 reservations had been received by George Raymer, secretary of the senior division, by noon today. More than 400 members and their friends are expected to be present when Toastmaster Bruce E. Switzer raps for order, at 6:30 p. m.

The following were added to the entertainment program today:

Marcella Arnold, the official "Miss Los Angeles of 1926."

Marjorie Williamson, of Long Beach, "Miss Southern California."

Hope Dare, winner of first prize at the Long Beach beauty tournament and other prizes, totaling in value over $500.

Aloha Porter, who was chosen as "Miss Venice" at the Venice contest and was sent by Venice to San Francisco, where she was selected as "Miss California."

Miss Martha Strang, "Miss San Diego of 1926."

Blanche Mehaffey, Marie Prevost, Helen Walker, "Miss Pittsburgh," Barbara Luddy, Edna Marion, Faustina Lucero and other entertainers already have been announced.

The following menu for the home products dinner was announced today by George Raymer, secretary of the senior divisions:

Table decorations by Santa Ana florists.

Cocktail—Served St. Ann's style.

Relishes — Green onions, celery, olives, pickles, garden radishes.

Aim and object of Buy-at-Home League.

Boxing Will Rate With Grand Opera

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—Boxing will rate with Paderewski concerts, grand operas, presidential nominations and charity balls in San Francisco's civic auditorium hereafter, providing Mayor James Rolph Jr. approves the decision reached by the board of supervisors favoring prize fighting in the city's building. The supervisors favored such action by a vote of 11 to 6, after a stormy session. Several women's organizations bitterly opposed the proposition.

FLY QUAKE IN SICILY

CATANIA, Sicily, Jan. 12.—The inhabitants of Catania fled to the country yesterday, when there strong earthquakes shook their homes, cracking many houses. Heavy rain and cold winds did not deter the terrified people from their flight into the open.

FISK STILL HAS CONFIDENCE IN WORLD FUTURE

This country is not going to the proverbial how-ows, McKee Fisk said in a talk before the students of the Campus "Y," in the Santa Ana junior college. He cited the fact that 225 college students went to the annual Asilomar conference to discuss problems of world-wide importance.

He said that his confidence in the future of the world was not shaken by alarmists pointing to world unrest.

Fisk, as advisor of the Campus "Y," went with the delegates from Santa Ana to the conference. Reports of the conference were given by Ross Fields, Allen Goddard, Ray Griset and Melvin Harter, Santa Ana delegates.

The college students were stimulated to creative thinking by the speeches of the conference leaders and especially by the discussion sections, it was said. A spirit of fellowship prevailed, racial prejudices were discarded and contacts were made with great personalities, including David Starr Jordan, president emeritus of Stanford university.

Many suggestions for the work to be undertaken by the Campus "Y" were brought back by the Santa Ana delegates.

Santa Anan Held On Drunk Charge

John Powers, 30, 602 East Fourth street, Santa Ana, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Officers Smithwick and Nelson and is being held in the county jail on charges of being drunk and disturbing the peace. Powers probably will be given a hearing today in city recorder's court.

HEALER POPULAR

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 12.—When Abraham George, 11, Indian boy "healer" came to Rochester recently from Batavia, he was surrounded by an eager crowd in a short time. Police finally had to disperse the throng of more than 1200 people who assembled to see the boy. The "healer" is said to drive away illness and affliction by the laying on of hands.

WALES HALTS HORSE

LONDON, Jan. 12.—It has happened at last—the Prince of Wales has conquered a horse. During a recent hunt, the prince, after a hot chase, captured a runaway which had thrown its rider, Capt. Alfred Lowenstein. Lowenstein recently won wide notice by his offer to stabilize the Belgian franc and his habit of riding about over Europe in airplanes.

24-Hour Supervision

Warren stated that the Orange county juvenile home, on Fruit street, is the only home in the state in which 24-hour supervision is maintained over inmates.

He stressed the point that it is to be expected that juvenile delinquency in Orange county will increase as the population grows.

Helen Walker, director of Americanization work in the city schools, made a brief report of the expenditures of money contributed by the club for assistance in her work. The club is giving substantial financial assistance.

Miss Walker announced that work heretofore done in the Logan street district had been transferred to Delhi because of the little interest taken in the work by Mexicans of the Logan street district.

George Gerwing was a visitor at the meeting and, at the invitation of the club, gave a brief outline of plans of the Community Players for putting on a series of plays during the winter.

Miss Faustina Lucero, always a favorite with Santa Ana groups, entertained with two dancing numbers, Irving Doyle officiating at the piano.

Congratulations Of County Board Sent to Whitsell

Formal congratulations to Leon Whitsell, of Orange, on his recent reappointment to the state railroad commission, were mailed today by the Orange county board of supervisors, Whitsell's former colleagues.

Whitsell was a member of the board, from the fourth district, when appointed to the railroad commission, several years ago, by Friend W. Richardson, then governor of California.

The Orange man was reappointed for a term of six years in December, just before Governor Richardson retired from office.

JUVENILES NOW NO WORSE THAN 10 YEARS AGO

Juvenile delinquents in Orange county today are no wilder than was this class of offenders 10 and 12 years ago, L. A. Warren, county probation officer, declared in an address, yesterday, at the meeting of the Santa Ana Exchange club.

The probation officer made that statement in discussing work of the juvenile department of the county. He asserted that half of the cases coming to the attention of the probation officer are settled outside the juvenile court.

Active co-operation by parents in handling cases, Warren said, made it possible to keep them out of court.

"As a rule, parents do not co-operate with the probation officer when their offspring gets into trouble requiring consideration by the officer," the probation officer commented.

Discipline Is Lost

The officer pointed out that no matter how rigid control a parent may maintain in the home, the effect of parental discipline is lost in the period between the hour the child is dismissed from school in the afternoon and the time he reaches home, or the time the father arrives at home to take control of the child.

"The parent has control of the child in the evening and in the morning before he goes to school," Warren said. "But the associates of the child are with him during the school hours and after school and if the associates are evil minded, the home-disciplined child loses the effect of the home training and sooner or later gets into trouble."

At the risk of incurring the displeasure of teachers, the officer made bold to declare that school today is adjourned too early in the afternoon. The old-time dismissal hour of 4 o'clock is preferable to the dismissal hours of today, in the opinion of Warren.

He said that supervised playgrounds, now being maintained by some cities in Orange county, were having beneficial effects on the morals of the young.

24-Hour Supervision

Warren stated that the Orange county juvenile home, on Fruit street, is the only home in the state in which 24-hour supervision is maintained over inmates.

He stressed the point that it is to be expected that juvenile delinquency in Orange county will increase as the population grows.

Helen Walker, director of Americanization work in the city schools, made a brief report of the expenditures of money contributed by the club for assistance in her work. The club is giving substantial financial assistance.

Miss Walker announced that work heretofore done in the Logan street district had been transferred to Delhi because of the little interest taken in the work by Mexicans of the Logan street district.

George Gerwing was a visitor at the meeting and, at the invitation of the club, gave a brief outline of plans of the Community Players for putting on a series of plays during the winter.

Miss Faustina Lucero, always a favorite with Santa Ana groups, entertained with two dancing numbers, Irving Doyle officiating at the piano.

S. A. CHURCHES ARE OBSERVING ANNUAL PRAYER WEEK SERVICES

Charles F. Seitter to Address Union Meeting Tonight in Baptist Church

APOSTLE PAUL IS REV. CRIM'S TOPIC

United Presbyterian Gathering Hears Sermon by Evangelist of Pasadena

The churches of Santa Ana this week are observing a "week of prayer." Prayer week usually is observed the first week of January, but because of the many engagements for the first week, the second week was chosen for the special services this year.

Services are held each night in a different church. Last night, the United Presbyterian church was host to other churches of the city. The speaker for the evening was the Rev. A. L. Crim, of Pasadena, evangelist of the Disciples denomination. The speaker scheduled for the evening was the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church, of Santa Ana, but because of the evangelistic conference, at which the Rev. Porter is host, Evangelist Crim was delegated to speak.

The speaker's topic was the phrase of the Apostle Paul, "Living Epistles, Read and Known of All Men." He used the form of the Pauline letters as an illustration of how men read the "living epistles." Paul always began his letters by stating who he was. This was followed by a statement of what he was—an apostle, a servant of Jesus Christ. Then he stated in the body of his letter why he was what he was. He concluded with a "finally brethren."

So, stated the speaker, men read us. They want to know who we are and they want to know what we are and there is a "finally brethren" for each of us.

We all must stand before the bar of judgment and receive judgment for what we, ourselves, are.

The service tonight will be held in the First Baptist church and the speaker will be the Rev. Charles F. Seitter, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. The service will take the place of the usual mid-week services in the churches and a large attendance at the union service is anticipated. The opportunity of hearing the new pastor of the Methodist church is one that will be welcomed by many Santa Ana church folk.

HEALER POPULAR

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 12.—When Abraham George, 11, Indian boy "healer" came to Rochester recently from Batavia, he was surrounded by an eager crowd in a short time. Police finally had to disperse the throng of more than 1200 people who assembled to see the boy. The "healer" is said to drive away illness and affliction by the laying on of hands.

WALES HALTS HORSE

LONDON, Jan. 12.—It has happened at last—the Prince of Wales has conquered a horse. During a recent hunt, the prince, after a hot chase, captured a runaway which had thrown its rider, Capt. Alfred Lowenstein. Lowenstein recently won wide notice by his offer to stabilize the Belgian franc and his habit of riding about over Europe in airplanes.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 50c and 60c. Adv.

posed of Emma Lena Richards, Rose Marie Smith, Jerry Tannenbaum and Simon Plon. They were accompanied on the piano by Mrs. A. Tannenbaum.

Concert Singer on Program

Especially well received by the audience were the baritone selections by Morgan Jones, noted concert singer, accompanied by Miss Leonora Thompson. Another pleasing number on the program was a reading, by Miss Beatrice Granas, the 10-year-old daughter of Arthur Granas, member of the association.

What proved a real surprise was the number staged by Charles Walker, of the West Coast-Walker theater, featuring Salvador Nuno, pianist, and Senorita Jullita Ruiz, Spanish dancer.

Reynolds, who is vice president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles and also vice president of the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings bank, was introduced by Chairman Rankin.

Reynolds, known as a finished after-dinner speaker, was at his best and for nearly an hour held his listeners on their toes with his wit, anecdotes and charm of narrative.

In introducing his subject, "After Satire," he offered an apology for his appearance, assuring the guests that this was the first time that he had been called upon to substitute for a preacher. He assured the guests, however, that he would talk on a subject close to religion—ethics.

Unwritten Laws of Game.

Ethics, the speaker said, are the unwritten laws of the game. They have grown with civilization, with rest periods, with introspection, he declared, adding that they are not formed in the active functions of business or in the heat of game. They are results of "post mortems" in the game of life.

Ethics are the unwritten laws of society. They are not limited to the scope of written codes, nor can they be made to fit all occasions, the banker explained. The serious side, as well as the humorous, is part of the subject, was touched upon by the speaker.

Turning to the business side of ethics, he stressed the value of confidence, which springs from integrity, fair dealing, efficient service and mutual benefit.

Reynolds was followed by Chairman Rankin, who, after thanking the members of the association and the board of directors for the cooperation given him during the last year, recommended that steps be taken to consolidate the two organizations into one single unit.

Ruddy Presents Report

In presenting his report to the membership, Secretary R. Earl Ruddy told his listeners that organizations like the Santa Ana Business Men's association are the police departments of modern business. In support of his claim, he cited a number of instances where the association, through its various activities, had saved the business men of Santa Ana thousands of dollars.

In addition to protecting its members against the operations of "check artists" and had risks the association maintains an efficient collection department, under the supervision of a trained lawyer.

Reference also was made to the fact that during the last year the organization was instrumental in defeating a number of various advertising schemes, which would have taken large sums of money out of the community.

M'MILLAN GIVEN GARAGE CONTRACT

R. C. McMillan, Santa Ana contractor, late yesterday was awarded the contract for building the proposed new garage at the county juvenile home. McMillan's bid, $4271, was the lowest of 10 bids before the county board of supervisors, after a bid of $3780, submitted by Theron Means, had been withdrawn by Means with consent of the board.

Means informed the board that he had made a mistake in his figures and would lose money on the job if forced to stand by his bid.

McMillan, the successful bidder, is the contractor who built the juvenile home. Other bids submitted were as follows:

J. S. Elliott, Santa Ana, $4418; E. W. Smith, Santa Ana, $4428.10; Bowman and Preble, Santa Ana, $4618; Herman C. Lembeck, Santa Ana, $4635; S. D. Heckard, Santa Ana, $4677; Barrows Construction company, Santa Ana, $4700; William Rohrbacker, Santa Ana, $4740; Mead Construction company, Wilmington, $4787; C. McNeill, Santa Ana, $4880.

Wants New Flags In Senate, House

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—Dust and ravages of time have worked such havoc with the big American flag and California Bear flags in the senate and assembly that a dry cleaning will not suffice to make them presentable.

So by the time the legislature reconvenes for the second half of the session, new flags will adorn both chambers, if a measure introduced in the assembly by Percy G. West, of Sacramento, is acted upon favorably by the legislature.

Appropriation of $57.25 for the purchase of new flags in each house was sought by West's measure.

Atlanta business men have subscribed a million-dollar fund for a national advertising campaign to be conducted by the city in a quest for new industries.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Girls, if you miss seeing "The Boy Friend" at the West Coast-Walker theater, don't say I didn't tell you.

You're just going to adore the whole picture, and it has some love scenes that will leave you breathless.

The story is about a young girl who feels that she wants to go to New York, and who doesn't. She feels that she must express herself in some way, and get away from the home folks, who of course, don't want her to go. Right then is where the "boy friend" gets his great idea. He buys a "book of charm" from a traveling book agent, and gives a French party in honor of Ida May, to show her that her old friends can be as charming as her newly acquired New York acquaintances.

The party is both funny and pathetic, for even though so many ridiculous things happened, I couldn't help but feel sorry for Joe, who believed that everything was going wrong. But it doesn't, and Ida May goes to New York, too, but not alone, as a bride!

Marceline Day is just the loveliest thing ever as Ida May, the girl with the yen for New York. John Harmon is what every "boy friend" ought to be but so few are.

MURPHY'S COMEDIANS

The old-time favorite melodrama, "The Maid and the Minister," is playing this week at Murphy's theater at Orana.

"The Maid and the Minister," a rural comedy melodrama in three acts, is well staged, and is played in a convincing manner.

The plot of the play has to do with a girl who comes to the small town with its small town views, to teach school. The village gossipers patch together a story about her past life and the minister of the church attempts to defend her character. He falls in love with her and is going to marry her, when her husband, whom she thought dead, shows up on the scene. Some dramatic situations arise, but all turns out for the happiness of the deserving.

officers, that she, with her husband and Emerson Smith, did stage a number of daylight holdups "jobs."

Admits Anaheim Holdup

The Freshour woman is said to have admitted that she and her husband held up an Anaheim grocery store. According to sheriff's officers here, the store was the Kelsey Grocery, which was held up a year and a half ago. A gold watch was stolen at that time. The girl is said to claim that the watch was given a Los Angeles attorney as a fee when her husband was in trouble before.

Jennie Freshour is the daughter of the late Deputy Sheriff John Oroscos, Los Alamitos, who was killed by thugs, about 15 years ago, in Los Alamitos.

Married in Santa Ana

Jennie Oroscos was married to Orval Freshour in Santa Ana, about three years ago, according to a statement said to have been made by the girl in the Riverside county jail. She claimed Freshour was an ex-convict, but said that she did not know it at the time of the marriage.

According to a statement by the Freshour woman, her father, John Oroscos, was killed by thugs who sought revenge on him for testifying against them in a criminal action. The men went to the penitentiary for the crime and it was after they had served their sentence that they killed her father, the girl said.

The girl is scheduled to be taken to Los Angeles today. She said that she would tell all she knew concerning the holdups in which she participated, officers declared. She then will seek probation.

OFFERS NEW PLAN OF ROAD FINANCE

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—Solution of the highway financing problem by an entirely new plan was offered by Assemblyman S. L. Heisinger, of Fresno county, by which the present system of distributing gasoline tax money would be repealed, and the money distributed on the basis of the amount of gasoline sold in the various counties.

While other legislators were seeking increase in pay for county officers, Heisinger proposed reducing Fresno county officers' salaries to the extent of approximately $3300 a year, except superior judges, school superintendent and county engineer.

DYE FUR IN EVERY POSSIBLE SHADE

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Fur of almost every shade in the spectrum is an American achievement, accomplished within the last 10 years, a report to the American Chemical society declares.

"The application of the results of science, particularly chemistry, to the fur-dyeing art, has evolved in this country a highly progressive, scientific and efficient industry which today is envied by fur-dyeing organizations throughout the world," declares the report, which was written for the society by William E. Austin, fur dyeing expert of New York.

"Today there are available for the dyers' use 45 to 46 individual, distinct dyes, as well as numerous mixtures, all of the oxidation type, representing shades from the palest cream or ivory through yellow, orange, red, brown, blue, and black. Occasionally, also, when exceptionally brilliant colors are desired, certain of the textile dyes are used."

GOVERNOR OF UTAH HITS BOULDER DAM

GOVERNOR OF UTAH HITS BOULDER DAM

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 12.—Assailing threatened federal invasion of state rights in the matter of the Colorado river development, Gov. George H. Dern delivered his message to the legislature, urging that body to take all steps necessary to protect the rights of Utah in the waters of the Colorado river.

The governor told the legislators that the state's rights in the river have required much attention during the last two years, because of asserted threatened invasion by federal authority. He called attention to the claim of the federal power commission, that it has control over the power of the river and is reported about to grant power licenses to private interests on the main stream, which would invade the rights of the upper basin states.

The governor also directed attention to the Swing-Johnson bill, now pending in congress, providing for a huge dam and power plant at Boulder canyon, to cost approximately $125,000,000. He urged that construction of this dam and power plant would militate against the interests of the upper basin states, including Utah, and would serve the interests of California particularly. He declared the fact that the federal government should lend its money and credit for the development of a project which, he claimed, would serve the interest of one state only and detract from the rights of other states.

Tomorrow! Hundreds of Women Will Crowd and Pack This Store!

A Sale With a Reason!

A complete reorganization of the Smart Shop is in progress. That's the reason for a tremendous store-wide SALE EVENT that includes every department. A genuine sacrifice of thousands and thousands of dollars worth of reputable, trustworthy merchandise for women and misses. Important changes are being made in the ownership, which calls for a quick and complete clear-away to convert every single item in stock into immediate cash. By far the most noteworthy sale in the Smart Shop's history.

Sender Buys Sole Interest

S. R. Sender, who has been identified with the Smart Shop for the past seven years as manager and part owner, has negotiated with his partner, L. D. Lipsy, to buy out the store and stock outright. For that reason $20,000.00 must be raised immediately, and the only way to do it is to sacrifice every bit of the smart, desirable merchandise to convert it into immediate cash. The sale opens Thursday promptly at nine. Be here early for best selection. Extra salespeople will be here to help you.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA:

Kit Carson

Sketches By Kroesen
Synopsis By Braucher

While Carson was trapping along the Sacramento river, in California, a party of Indians drove away 60 horses belonging to traders. Carson and 12 men pursued the band into the mountains. The Indians were feasting on the flesh of stolen horses when Carson and his men found them.

Silently Carson arranged the trappers at points of vantage about the camp. Then, though outnumbered 10 to 1, the white men attacked.

The battle was brief. The Indians, taken by surprise, were routed and fled, leaving eight dead. Most of the horses were recovered.

In the autumn of 1829, while Carson was trapping along the Colorado river, he was left in camp with a few men. Several hundred Indians, ostensibly peaceful, visited the camp. Carson observed that all had weapons and that they eyed the horses suspiciously. Calling his men around him, he raised his rifle and ordered them away. Courage won. The band departed.

THE TINYMITES

BY HAL COCHRAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Said Copy, "Gee, how queer, 'twill seem for us to drive a dog-sled team. Let's hop aboard and start away. I'll be the first to drive." Then someone asked, "Where shall we go?" And Copy answered, "I don't know. We'll just start out and then we'll know as soon as we arrive."

They clattered on the funny sled, some far behind, some up ahead. And all this time the husky dogs were barking like the deuce. Wee Scouty shouted, "Crack your whip, 'cause that will start us on our trip." And Copy did as he was told, which turned the big dogs loose.

Away they went across the snow, and gee, how fast they seemed to go. The dogs were very strong ones like they have up where it's cold. A storm cloud broke up in the sky and snow-fakes soon went whirling by. "Be careful," Scouty shouted loud, "So you do not lose your hold."

Ah, such a trip was very rare, and just like sailing through the air. On every side the Tinymites saw naught but snow and ice. And then they came to realize the whiteness almost hurt their eyes, 'till one began complaining that the trip was not so nice.

Then Clowny shouted, "Say, be still! Don't start to kick, but wait until we find where we are bound for. Who can tell what is ahead? This country all is new to us. Be patient, now, don't make a fuss, but just hang on real tightly so you don't fall off the sled."

The dogs kept barking, as they ran. Now just imagine, if you can, the little bunch of Tinymites all piled on one big sled. When they grew cold they shortly found it warmed them up to move around. How little did they realize that trouble was ahead.

(The Tinymites lose their dogs in the next story.)

Things Will Be Different When Her Son Marries

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Let justice rule your conduct every day,
For when you meet the judge, you'll need fair play."

"Every time Mrs. Brown goes into that house, Dave Brown and his wife don't speak for a week after. It's another case of mother-in-law."

"How about Mrs. Brown's mother? She goes there and stays for weeks at a time. It's the difference in women, I suppose."

But there was no difference in the two mothers-in-law. Both were fine women, both had reared fine children. However, the neighbors were right. The visits of the husband's mother seemed to bring friction. The visits of wife's mother never seemed to make much difference in the tranquility of the love nest.

Now there was a reason for the unfortunate endings of the Dowager Mrs. Brown's visits to son David. To begin with, women are usually jealous of other women. There we have sex psychology regardless of age or relationship. I have known mothers who made absolutely no protest about their sons going to war and facing annihilation, who failed utterly to be reconciled to their marriage.

We cannot help our human hearts or the passions that are as much a part of us as our breath. It is hard for a mother who has watched her baby boy grow and develop under her care to the perfect flower of his manhood, take another woman on his arm and walk down the rosy path of the future.

Mothers who lose daughters by marriage may have heartbreak, too, but it is a different kind of heartbreak. Their common interests of sex and family are still a strong tie, that in some cases grows with time.

The mother of a married son goes into her son's house with the feeling that it belongs to another woman. Most young wives are too inexperienced to realize that one of the first things they should learn is exceeding patience with the mothers of their husbands. There may be a tremendous fight going on in the older woman's breast—a struggle she is trying hard to win. If she has a few minutes alone now and then with her boy, or even actually connives to have him to herself, the wise young wife will tiptoe away.

Some day she may have a son! And she may deny herself everything on earth to make him a perfect being! And he will probably take another woman on his arm and walk down the rosy path of the future, away from her.

And will it be odd when she visits him that she will occasionally try to have him to herself now and then?

TAFFETA KERCHIEF

This dainty handkerchief is made of blue washable taffeta decorated with a corner basket in pink, green and black.

BEAUTY CHATS

AN ATTRACTIVE SMILE

Smiles are curious. Almost exactly the same sort of facial twisting, the changing of position of a few muscles—and the effect is either very pleasant, or distinctly unpleasant. So many women look perfectly villainous when they smile, and their emotions are really very sweet. Why can't they look sweet when they feel so?

Something is wrong—and it isn't their minds or their feelings—something is simply physically wrong with the way they smile. What about your smile? If you have any doubts about it, practice smiling at yourself in a mirror. If it doesn't express yourself, what you feel, what you want to convey to your friends, then do something about it. A smile is sweetness, or merriment, or understanding, or plain joy of being alive, or amused derision; it has a thousand variations for a thousand shades of emotion. And all because the lips lengthen and the eyes open wider, or become brighter!

Of course, the teeth are most important in making a smile attractive. If you are conscious of having really good teeth, you will smile as widely as you want knowing you are only adding to your attraction. If you have poor teeth, you will suppress your natural smiles, or try to smile with closed lips, or use some awkward trick of your hand to cover your mouth—and spoil your face. A good dentist will give you good teeth—good enough to let you show them freely when you want to laugh at least.

Aside from having good teeth, it isn't a bad idea to smile at yourself in a looking glass, to see how you do it. If you are alone, you won't feel self-conscious, and you can practice different kinds of smiles—enough at least to find out whether yours makes you prettier or not. If it doesn't, then you will have to practice until you learn how to do it better. Facial expressions can be trained and perfected, and your smile, more than anything else, should add to your charm.

Mrs. H. M. A.—Two or three times a week should be enough for applying the tonic.

Ruby—A henna shampoo discolors the stray grey hairs so they are a deep tan color or almost red, and when brushed into the rest of the hair they are not seen. Use the contents of one of the small packages that come for one shampoo, and mix the henna powder

Are your teeth pretty? with the latter distributed through your hair. Let this remain on the hair for about 30 minutes, and then proceed as in any other method of shampooing.

Tomorrow—A New Complaint.

MENUS for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Rolled oats with chopped dates, thin cream, creamed salt codfish, cornmeal muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Dried pea timbales, creamed carrots, apple sauce, ginger bread, graham bread, milk, tea.

DINNER—Veal steak, tomato and mushroom sauce, stewed rice, date and banana salad, lemon sponge pie, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

Tomato and Mushroom Sauce—One cup canned tomatoes rubbed through a sieve, 1-2 cup broken mushrooms, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons sifted dried bread crumbs, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons cream.

If fresh mushrooms are used, simmer in the butter for five minutes and then add tomato sauce. Cook over a low fire for fifteen minutes. If canned mushrooms are used, simmer tomato and mushrooms for ten minutes and add butter, sifted crumbs, and salt and pepper. Stir until thick and smooth. When ready to serve, stir in cream.

Just Folks

REAL SUCCESS

It is good to succeed,
But it's better by far
To show by the deed
Just the man that you are.

Though the victory's sweet
When the battle is done,
Are you proud to repeat
How your triumph was won?

Were you fair, were you true
As you struggled along
Or does triumph mark you
As just brutally strong?

Did you win in a way
That is free from all shame?
What do other men say
As they mention your name?

Did you openly fight?
Were you brave enough there
Not to turn from the right
In your hour of despair?

Head high and jaws set,
Hit as hard as you can,
But don't ever forget,
You must win as a man!

Today's Anniversaries

1777—Gen. Hugh Mercer, a famous commander in the Continental army, died of wounds received in the battle of Princeton. Born in Scotland in 1720.

1836—Joshua Humphreys, who designed the famous U. S. Constitution, died at Haverford, Pa. Born there, June 17, 1751.

1861—Florida seceded from the Union.

1870—The famous old Star and Garter hotel in Richmond, England, was destroyed by fire.

1881—John F. Miller was elected United States senator from California.

1882—Buren R. Sherman was inaugurated twelfth state governor of Iowa.

1916—In the United States senate the murder of 19 American mining officials in Mexico caused a hot debate on the president's policy.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

BY ARTHUR N. PACK

President, American Nature Ass'n.
A number of snakes are cannibals, feeding on other snakes, sometimes even their own species.

Among these are the gopher snake, ranging from Florida westward, and the king snake, through the eastern and southern states. Both are inveterate enemies of the rattler and are immune to his poison.

But the deadliest of all the cannibals is the king cobra, found in India and the Malay regions to the Philippines, where he dwells in the grassy jungles. He is a pale, transparent, grassy-green color for the forward two-thirds of his length, the remainder being heavily mottled with black.

He is first cousin to the hooded or common cobra, and also to the Egyptian cobra (believed to be the "asp" with which Cleopatra committed suicide), but is much larger than either.

He is the largest of the poisonous snakes, sometimes reaching the length of 16 feet, and is, moreover, the most aggressive. All other snakes, except possibly the bush master, let man alone as long as they are not molested, but the king cobra often follows man with the express purpose of biting him when there has been no provocation.

A man bitten by this most poisonous of all snakes will rarely live an hour, and death has been known to come within five minutes after the bite.

A Buying Guide

Before you order dinner at a restaurant, you consult the bill-of-fare. Before you take a long trip by motor-car, you pore over road maps. Before you start out on a shopping trip, you should consult the advertisements in this paper. For the same reasons!

The advertising columns are a buying guide to you in the purchase of everything you need—including amusements! A guide that saves your time and conserves your energy; that saves useless steps and guards against false ones; that puts the s-t-r-e-t-c-h in family budgets.

The advertisements in this paper are so interesting; it is difficult to see how anyone could overlook them . . . fail to profit by them. Just check with yourself and be sure that you are reading the advertisements regularly—the big ones and the little ones. It is time well spent . . . always.

Avoid time-wasting, money-wasting detours on the road to merchandise value. Read the advertising "road maps"

CHANNEL SWIM
ENTRANTS OFF
FOR CATALINAFear of Seasickness Sends Nators from Mainland
To Isle for Training

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Fear of seasickness which might result if a last minute crossing was made, has driven most of the competitors in the $40,000 Wrigley ocean marathon from their mainland training quarters to Catalina island from where the 23 mile channel swim will start Saturday.

The boat crossing to the "magic isle" owned by William Wrigley Jr., sponsor of the great sea derby, is often rough and none of the contestants wish to take a chance on being forced out of the swim before the take-off.

The recent cold spell, with the temperature of the water tested at 57, brings forth again the contention that drawn is more likely to cut into the $40,000 melon than either speed or brain.

If the race is to the strong instead of the speedy Henry Sullivan and Charles Toth, both of Massachusetts and both of whom list the English channel among their accomplishments, are conceded a good chance to strike the mainland.

Louis Timson, the American Legion entry, is also a formidable candidate.

Emako Gluko, full blooded Eskimo, who boasts a Bering Straits crossing, is listed as one of the dark horses of the meet.

Of the women entries, Mrs. Lotie Schoemmel, "bear grease" advocate, and Miss Clarabelle Barrett, are conceded the best chances to land in the money.

They have established separate camps on the island to put in their finishing training touches.

BEARS BUSY TONIGHT

BEGINS LEAGUE
RACE THURSDAY

Crucial matches in the race for the Coast Preparatory league championship will hit Coach Howard Lutz's Santa Ana high school Class B basketball team twice in a row. Upon the outcome of the games with Long Beach, in the playoff tomorrow, and with Whittier next week rests the title hopes of the Poly lightweights.

The ruckus between the rival "Bee" teams to be played tomorrow afternoon at Long Beach will be the first game of the conference schedule, opening the Poly cage season.

Santa Ana has what is said to be the strongest "B" team that has played the cage game in years. Most of the players are graduates from the Class "C" squad which completed a remarkable season of 15 games undefeated in 1926.

So far this year, the Poly lightweights have won all their practice games with impressive scores from rival county high school aggregations. The only team that has been able to outpoint them is the all-star team composed of ex-Poly players. Last night these two squads tangled and the all-stars emerged victorious by a 18 to 11 score.

Coach Lutz was to call his squad together this afternoon to elect a captain.

The regulars probably will start the game with Long Beach and because of the battle that is expected, the winning of the game will be charged to them. Orville Schuchardt and Fred ("Wilbur") Fostick will be at forwards, Melvin Beatty at center, and Delmer Brown and Lloyd Manderschied at guards. Coach Lutz doesn't intend to make many substitutions.

The lineup:
All Stars (18) (1) Class "B" Youpel (12).....F..... (2) Schuchardt McElree (12).....F..... (3) Fostick E. Adams (12).....F..... (4) Beatty Fostick (12).....G..... (5) Brown White (12).....G..... (6) Manderschied Substitution: All stars—P. Adams for McElree; Prior for E. Adams.

HARRIS BEGINS TRACK WORK AT LOCAL COLLEGE

Several track athletes of promising merit have been discovered by Graham Harris, Santa Ana junior college mentor, who today called his squad together for regular training. The cinderpath performers, after the respite since December, are looking ahead to the interclass meet scheduled for February 4.

Prospects for the college track team have been considerably brightened by the showing of some of the new candidates. The "big boy," Aubrey Reinhardt, has made such marked improvement in tossing the shot that he is expected to be able to shove the 16-pound cannonball better than 40 feet.

Charles Thorman and Carroll Ault, both freshmen, in trial spins have shown ability in the sprints. Coach Harris also believes Tuli may make a high jumper and space annihilator as a broad jumper.

Three practice meets, all at home, have been arranged by Harris. Both will come after the interclass meet. The first is to be a triangular affair between the Santa Ana junior college, California Christian college and LaVerne college, February 12. Other meets are with the Pomona college freshmen March 4 and with the University of California, Southern Branch, freshmen, March 19.

Earlier this year, Coach Harris had the cinderpath team out for cross country and the first interclass contest.

The freshman team is touted as superior to the sophomores but the class rivalry runs high because the scores are even. The sophomores won the interclass cross country and the freshmen won the first interclass contest.

Santa Ana and Pomona Cagers
Clash Tonight

Basketball squads of the Santa Ana and Pomona Y. M. C. A.'s will tangle tonight in a Southern California "Y" league match at the Santa Ana gymnasium, Church and Sycamore streets. The game will begin at 8 o'clock and the gallery will be open to spectators.

Pomona's quintette have made a good showing this season and the Santa Anans have a reasonable string of winning scores to their credit as well as one of the most evenly matched contests of the season is expected.

Ontario and Santa Ana volleyball squads clash here Friday night.

Judge Landis Proves He Is Real Expert

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—When Judge Landis, commissioner of baseball, summoned Jack Lapp to appear before him in the present baseball scandal, he definitely qualified as a sport expert. Lapp died at his home Feb. 20, 1920.

The error made by the eminent judge in summoning a man to appear before him who has been dead nearly seven years is in keeping with a mistake once made by the late Walter Camp in picking his All-American eleven.

Through some error in his gridiron data, Camp named a player who had been out of college for two years as an athlete worthy of honorable mention.

Patch Up Break
With Princeton

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 12.—A series of attempts to patch up athletic relations between Harvard and Princeton apparently has failed, with announcement of the Harvard board of overseers that no action would be taken on a report of its special committee investigating the break.

Editors of the Harvard Lampoon, college comic, whose "Princeton number" precipitated the breach, have apologized for the slurs printed in the publication and Harvard officials also have sent apologies.

Among flistic fans in New York much interest is being manifested in the fight to be held at Madison Square Garden Jan. 21 between Fidel La Barba, world's flyweight champion, and Elky Clark, flyweight champion of Great Britain.

PRINCIPALS IN PROBE REBUKED
BUT ACQUITTEDTrial Evidence Indicates Gandil, Risberg Charges
Erroneous, Says Czar

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Twenty-one baseball players accused of graft in connection with a series of games between Chicago and Detroit in 1917 were found not guilty today by Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball.

Judge Landis' decision, handed out after careful consideration of evidence presented by the two accusing ball players, Charles ("Swede") Risberg and Arnold ("Chick") Gandil, and some 31 other players who denied the charges, was given out at his office as promised shortly before 10 a. m.

"It is the finding of the commission," Judge Landis' report said, "that the fund raised by the Chicago players about September 3, 1917, was not collected or paid to the Detroit players for 'sloughing' to Chicago the games of September 2 and 3, 1917, but was paid because of Detroit beating Boston; that there was no 'sloughing' of the September 2 or 3 games in 1917, nor of the September 26, 27 and 28 games in 1919, except by Risberg and Gandil."

The judge's decision indicated that he took the word of such ball players as Eddie Collins, Ray Schalk and Donnie Bush, as against that of Risberg and Gandil, who were ousted from baseball after alleged throwing of the 1919 world's series.

James' Evidence Counts
The testimony of Bill James, former Detroit pitcher, that he was paid the "pot" as a bonus for beating the Boston club and that he divided it among the battery men of the team, was taken as the decisive bit of evidence that the baseball stars accused were not guilty.

James followed Gandil on the witness stand and denied all charges except that he had been paid money. James said the money was a reward for beating Boston.

Judge Landis' decision read in part as follows:

"On January 1, 1927, Risberg appeared at the commissioner's office. He stated that the four games Detroit played at Chicago September 2 and 3, 1917, had been 'sloughed'—(that is, thrown)—by Detroit to Chicago; that the Chicago team had paid money to Detroit players therefor and that Chicago had 'sloughed' to Detroit two of its three games series of September 26, 27 and 28, 1919, in appreciation (but not for money consideration) of Detroit's 1917 'sloughing'.

Players Summoned
"These charges were set for hearing on January 5 and 6, 1927, and players of the 1917 and 1919 Chicago and Detroit teams were summoned to appear.

"At this hearing Risberg reiterated his charges, and was supported by Chick Gandil. In opposition to the Risberg and Gandil charges was the testimony of Clarence Rowland, E. T. Collins, Ray Schalk, Owen Bush, Tyrus Cobb, George Daus, Oscar Stanage, Howard Ehmke, Ben Dyer, Urban Faber, Richard Kerr, William Gleason, John Collins, Harry Liebold, Harry Hellmann, Edward Murphy, Joseph Benz, Robert Veach, Bernard Boland, Albert Russell, George Harper, George Weaver, George Cunningham, Dave Danforth, Ted Jourdan, George Burns and Bill James, there had been no 'sloughing' whatever by either Chicago or Detroit and that no money was contributed, paid or received by anybody for 'sloughing'.

"The Chicago players other than Risberg and Gandil admitted the raising of a fund by Gandil and Risberg from the Chicago players at New York about September 23, 1917, but stated that this money was solicited by Gandil and Risberg and contributed by them (the Chicago players) to be paid to Detroit pitchers in appreciation of, or as a reward for, their beating Boston three games, September 20 and 21, 1917, Boston being Chicago's closest contender in the

TROJAN CLUB TO MEET IN ORANGE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—The University of Southern California basketball team smothered the Occidental college five under a 40 to 14 score here last night.

"Red" Badgro, of football fame, and Jack Bruner led the Trojan scorers. Badgro accounted for 18 points and Bruner for 14.

The lineup:
All Stars (18) (1) Class "B" Youpel (12).....F..... (2) Schuchardt McElree (12).....F..... (3) Fostick E. Adams (12).....F..... (4) Beatty Fostick (12).....G..... (5) Brown White (12).....G..... (6) Manderschied Substitution: All stars—P. Adams for McElree; Prior for E. Adams.

INTENTIONAL PASS
Recently I wrote an article dealing with the intentional pass in baseball. The fact that Babe Ruth, baseball's greatest slugger, received 11 bases on balls in the last series prompted the story.

Prior to the opening of the series, Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals said Ruth was just human and that he had issued orders to all of his staff to pitch to him.

For a time, they did, and then in one game Ruth made three home runs and put an entirely different aspect on the situation. While it is doubtful if the intentional pass is ever abolished, still there is no denying that it is one of the most unpopular features of the game.

I commented on several suggestions that had been offered to eradicate the evil and asked the fans to write me and tell me what they thought about it.

PLAY UNPOPULAR

That was about two weeks ago. Since then every mail brings from one to five letters expressing their disgust of the intentional pass.

While all seem a unit in the belief that the intentional pass should be abolished, only a few offer suggestions as to how it could be done without hurting the game.

I am taking the liberty of printing one of the suggestions that to my way of thinking have some merit.

"My suggestion," writes a Chicago fan, "deals with the unintentional as well as the intentional pass. If a pitcher lacks control to the extent that he makes only four pitches to the batsman, all of them being called balls, he should be penalized.

"The suggestion applies only when there are four pitches to a batsman and all of them are called balls. That is usually the case when an intentional pass is issued, the pitcher throwing the ball so wide of the plate that the batter couldn't reach it were his bat twice as long as ordinarily used.

"If five or more balls are pitched, there would be no penalty, as the batter had been given an opportunity to hit and failed."

GOOD SUGGESTION

Here is the interpretation of the suggestion as offered by the Chicago fan.

Allow the baserunners who are not forced to advance, one base. Allow the baserunners who are forced to advance, two bases.

When the bases are empty, allow the batsman who receives four straight balls to go to second base.

It's a simple solution of the evil that certainly has some merit. I would like to see some of the clubs try it out in spring training.

SPRINT KINGS SCHEDULED TO MEET THRICE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Track fans will have plenty of opportunities to see a return sprint classic this spring between Charley Paddock, world record holder, and Charley Borah, University of Southern California's sensational sophomore dash man, if present plans carry through. The Trojan and the Los Angeles Athletic club teams are both entered in three events where a century race features.

The first is February 26 at the A. A. U. relays where an open 100 is listed. Paddock, who runs for L. A. A. C., may not be in condition for that meet but Borah will run. The second affair is the Southern Pacific A. A. U. championships April 15 and the third meeting is slated at a triangular meet between the Hollywood and Los Angeles Athletic clubs and the Trojans.

At the 1926 A. A. U. championships on May 15 Paddock and Borah, the latter then a freshman, ran a thrilling 100-yard dash. Paddock was named the winner in the world record time of 9.5 seconds, a mark which has been officially accepted. Many hoped to see the two meet at the Nationals in Philadelphia but Paddock was unable to make the trip with the club team.

OUTBOARD RACES TO BE HELD AT BEACH

A series of outboard motor races and sailing canoe races will start at Newport Beach February 20, officials of the Newport Harbor Yacht club and the Southland Sailing club, who are sponsoring the two events, announced here today.

The Newport Harbor Yacht club will be in charge of the outboard motor races. The Southland Sailing club will have charge of the sailing canoe races. The outboard motor races will be run with the sanction of the Pacific Coast Hydroplane association and will be governed by the rules of the Mississippi River Power Boat association. This will make the races absolutely official.

There will be two classes in the races. One will be a free-for-all and the other will be a handicap race for various horsepower boats.

Vincent Richards, Tennis Star, Ill

RISBERG AND GANDIL BEFORE LANDIS IN SCANDAL TRIAL

This remarkable picture is the first to come out of the sanctum where Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, is investigating the latest tangle of scandal charges. It shows a general view of the high water mark of the hearings when "Chick" Gandil, exiled White Sox first baseman, appeared to substantiate charges by "Swede" Risberg, another of the "Black Sox." Risberg and Gandil are shown before Landis, surrounded by baseball players and newspapermen.

TROJAN QUINTETTE TO MEET ARIZONA

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Having shown little over which to become excited in practice games to date, the U. S. C. basketballers receive their last opportunity to polish up a smooth brand of teamwork this Friday and Saturday when the Trojans meet the University of Arizona tilters at the local basketball pavilion.

Following the games with the Wildcats, the Southerners enter the conference play in the Southern division, opening with Stanford here January 21. That game will be staged at the Olympic auditorium as will all home conference affairs.

The probable Southern California lineup will be: Morris Badgro and Jack Bruner, forwards; Jesse Hibbs, center; Captain Manuel Laraneta and Carl Denny or Tommy Lewis, guards.

Sam Agnew Signs New Seal Contract

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—Sam Agnew, veteran major league catcher, has signed to play with the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast league next season. He is the first Seal to return a contract for 1927. Agnew, now wintering in Sonora, announced he will not coach Santa Clara university's baseball team this spring.

BILLY EVANS

"They must have left something under your pillow last night?" The year following the expose of the 1919 scandal, that was the college yell of fandom.

When some player muffed an easy fly ball or booted a grounder, immediately hundreds of voices in unison would request information as to what he found under his pillow on retiring.

The umpires weren't immune from criticism either, for any time they made a decision that seemed palpably wrong to the fans, the college yell would be loudly given by the ever suspicious.

EVER SUSPICIOUS It will be recalled that the Chicago White Sox players who figured in the 1919 scandal, were supposed to have found sums ranging from $5000 to $10,000 under their pillows on the night before the opening game.

While most of the players admitted that Santa Claus had visited their room and left presents of gold, there are some of the players who still insist that they didn't get even so much as counterfeit money.

Baseball is a game that calls for the active players to accept a goodly number of chances. I have seen stars of the game make a half dozen brilliant plays and then in a pinch fall down in trying to handle the easiest sort of a chance. Such a happening is always food for the ever suspicious.

As a matter of fact, some players have the reputation of being weak on easy chances, finding it more difficult to handle balls directly in front of them than on those to their right or left.

PESSIMISTIC VIEW

For perhaps a year, possibly two, after the White Sox scandal, whenever a player muffed up an easy chance, he was certain to get an echo of the "under-the-pillow" episode.

There are always certain pessimists who believe the world is all wrong. As a rule the pessimist is of a suspicious nature. He can see evil first in all things.

Instead of working on the theory that most people are honest, the crooked being greatly in the minority, he is willing to believe that evil predominates in everybody.

It is that type of fan who got the real kick out of giving the college yell about the "under-the-pillow" stuff every time a player made an error.

It was fortunate that just at this time, along came Babe Ruth with a flock of home runs that quickly caused fandom, even the suspicious species, to quickly forget.

It is going to be more difficult to play ball and umpire in the major leagues next season. For a time at least, a certain portion of the fans are going to be suspicious on the slightest pretext.

Honest errors that will be a part of baseball as long as the game is played, are certain to be censured.

BALL PLAYERS EXONERATED BY BASEBALL CZAR

American league pennant race of 1917.

Says Act Censurable "If the Gandil-Risberg version be correct, it was an act of criminality. If the other version be true, it was an act of impropriety, reprehensible and censurable, but not corrupt."

Landis said he had thoroughly considered the conflicting testimony and could arrive at none but the decision that Risberg and Gandil were in error in their statements.

Landis' statement winds up by saying:

"To some it may seem inexplicable that Risberg and Gandil should implicate themselves in these alleged corrupt practices. Obviously that self implication may have been conceived of the theory that 'they have even implicated themselves, so it must be true.' However, being already upon the ineligible list, this would not affect them and it might blacken the 'lily whites'."

"Of course, testimony by Gandil and Risberg is evidence to that extent against them, but there is no evidence whatever supporting the charge as involving any other Chicago player."

Gleason Not Solicited

"Gandil testified that the 'young fellows and Gleason' were not solicited and that Weaver did not contribute. Rowland, Murphy, Danforth and Hasbrook testified they were not solicited and did not contribute. This leaves 19 contributors (assuming that Byrne, Cicotte, Flesch, Jackson, Jenkins, McMullen, Williams and Wolfgang, none of whom were here to testify, contributed) at $45 each, this makes the fund $855, which is in line with James' testimony that Gandil turned over $850.

"The purpose of this fund is the important question involved, whether it was a bribe for sloughing the game to Chicago September 2 and 3, 1917, or a gift to Detroit pitchers for their work against Boston. Risberg's and Gandil's testimony on this subject has already been set out. Faber, John Collins, Edward Collins, Leibold, Daus, Stanage, James, Benz, Boland, Russell, Mitchell, Schalk, Jourdan, Lynn and Hasbrook state they were told it was to go to Detroit pitchers for beating Boston the three games of September 19 and 20, 1917.

"To establish that it was bribe money is the testimony of Risberg and Gandil against that of all the other players above mentioned. Obviously Rowland could not have made the statement claimed by Risberg.

The psychology of the scandal will remain for some time and will naturally have the effect of creating an atmosphere clouded with suspicion.

TWO ANAHEIM BANKS SHOW BIG INCREASE

ANAHEIM, Jan. 12.—Revealing a phenomenal growth during the year just closed, the total combined resources of the First National and American Savings banks, jointly controlled institutions of this city, showed a gain of $314,909.05 over the same figures taken at the close of 1925, officials of the banks reported this morning.

At the close of 1925, the two banks showed combined resources totaling $4,603,571.03, as compared with $4,288,661.98, which represents the combined resources reported at the close of 1925.

The banks have just figured in a merger with the Bank of Italy, in which 50 California banks were taken under the wing of the larger institution.

H. B. BOARD MINUS 2 VICE PRESIDENTS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 12.—The problem of selecting two new vice presidents will face members of the local chamber of commerce next Monday noon.

Dr. G. A. Shank, president of the chamber of commerce, recently resigned to become a member of the city board of trustees.

L. W. Blodgett, first vice president of the chamber of commerce, was advanced to the office of president.

Yesterday, Blodgett resigned as president to assume his duties as chief deputy district attorney in Santa Ana and the second vice president, E. A. Suter, became the president.

The organization now has a president but no vice presidents.

A report on the membership campaign which is being conducted by the chamber of commerce will be given next Monday.

Dale Peters, the captain of one of the membership teams, and Joseph Vavra is the captain of the other.

Seal Beach Man Draws Stiff Fine

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 12.—One of the heaviest sentences meted out in many months was given C. L. Fensler, 26, of Seal Beach, yesterday by City Recorder C. W. Warner.

Fensler was sentenced to pay fines aggregating $600 or spend 600 days in jail. He is endeavoring to raise the money.

Fensler pleaded guilty to two charges in court yesterday. One complaint charged him with illegal possession of liquor and the other with illegal transportation of liquor.

He was sentenced to pay a fine of $300 or spend 300 days in jail on each charge.

The man was arrested by Officers Fred Ott and John Stanton. He is alleged to have had several pint bottles and a gallon jug of liquor in his machine.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, Jan. 12.—Services for the week of prayer are being held Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week at the Wintersburg Methodist church and the pastor of the church, the Rev. J. R. Carpenter, is speaking at the meetings.

Eleven boys, members of E. Ray Moore's Sunday school class, cleaned their teacher and Raymond Bean on a delightful day's outing into the snow of Mt. Baldy on Saturday.

In the company were Edward Ruoff, John Kettler, James Talley, E. B. Talley, John Henry, Earl Henry, Wendell Kanawyer, Henry Sizer, Dwayne Moore, Kenneth McMillan, Gerald McMillan and Mr. Bean and Mr. Moore.

Mrs. Leo Varner and son, Harlan Varner, of Sebastopol, Sonoma county, were unexpected visitors Monday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Steck. The visitors were en route to San Diego.

Mrs. W. P. Trece was able to be up Sunday for the first time in at least a week, having been quite ill with influenza. Jack Trece, the eldest son of the family, became ill Monday with the same disease. Mrs. Trece's sister-in-law, Mrs. Portz, of Long Beach, has been out assisting the family during the illness of Mrs. Trece and Jack.

Miss Marjorie Cowling was hostess on last Friday evening at the regular monthly meeting of the Queen Esther circle of the Wintersburg Methodist church at which 11 of the circle members and their leader, Mrs. E. M. Fox, were present. It was decided to do some sewing for the benefit of the David and Margaret home for children at La Verne. Several other plans were discussed but not completed.

The meeting place for the February meeting of the Queen Esther circle was not announced as there is talk of having the meetings regularly at the social hall and this question has not been as yet decided.

Present at Friday's meeting were Miss Alma Vanduff, Miss L. Delma Stinson, Miss June Slater, Miss Geraldine Gardner, Miss Velma Wentzel, Miss Carita Dearford, Miss Bonnelly Fox, Miss Isabelle Russell and Miss Marjorie Cowling.

A strip of Westminster road, just west of Wintersburg, has been graded this week and a portion of it filled.

Explosion Damages Mesa House

COSTA MESA, Jan. 12.—A mysterious explosion yesterday wrecked one corner of the C. W. TeWinkle home on Newton road between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets.

The explosion took place in the bathroom of the TeWinkle residence, it is said. The entire corner of the house was badly damaged. There was no one in the house at the time of the explosion.

An investigation following the freak explosion showed all gas connections in the house to be turned off. The TeWinkles are at a loss to explain the explosion.

PROHIBITION CITED AS PROSPERITY AID

ORANGE, Jan. 12.—Basing her talk on several trips through the east and Canada before and after prohibition, Mrs. W. W. Jones, El Modena W. C. T. U. worker, spoke to the local W. C. T. U. members yesterday at its monthly meeting in the parlors of the First Methodist church on the prosperity and progress which has come since the passing of the prohibition amendment.

Increased bank accounts, less poverty and cleaner living were cited by her as evidences that prohibition has been a benefit to the American people as a whole.

Preceding the talk by Mrs. Jones, an hour of prayer and discussion of the problems of enforcement was conducted by Mrs. Emily Reed.

Miss Blanche Leggett explained the purposes and the uses of the money subscribed to the Lillian Stevens legislative fund. According to Miss Leggett, the money goes principally to educate the people in various political campaigns where total prohibition is the issue, and keeping a lobbyist at Washington.

Mrs. Pearl K. Hess conducted the current events discussion. Mrs. Charles Harper sang. Two visitors from Downs, Kansas, were present. They were Mrs. R. Verhage and Mrs. Del Cox.

Mrs. Alpha Cave Given Post In Orange Library

ORANGE, Jan. 12.—Mrs. Alpha Cave assumed her duties as children's librarian at the Orange public library today as a result of her appointment by the board of trustees of the library to that position at the monthly meeting held Monday night. Mrs. Cave formerly conducted the department and, according to Mrs. Mabel Faulkner, librarian, her acceptance of the position assumes the patrons of the children's department of expert and efficient service.

Two new editions of well known works were ordered by the board. "A History of North America," in 20 volumes and "Modern Education," in 12 volumes, the latter compiled by Ashley Threndike, were sets authorized.

Mrs. Faulkner states that the addition of the two sets to the shelves of the Orange public library is considered a forward step in the acquisition of reliable reference volumes of a most progressive nature.

2 New Wells for Brea-Olinda Field

BREA, Jan. 12.—Two new wells are to be drilled in the Brea Olinda field immediately, one by the Shell company, and the other by the Fullerton Oil company, according to official reports.

The Shell company has a derrick up for its Orange No. 15 on the north side of the Orange lease on top of the hill, and is moving in machinery and equipment to begin drilling immediately, it is said. The well is in the line between the Orange property, and the Fullerton Oil company's holdings.

The Fullerton interests are building a derrick to offset the Orange No. 15, and will begin rigging up in a day or two. The well will be known as Fullerton No. 22.

let Bray, left for her home Sunday, making the trip in company with nephew, Guy Worthy, and a friend from Long Beach.

A. A. Thornton, former local resident, who is now of Escondido, was a Wintersburg visitor Monday and remained as an over night guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Steck.

The Rev. James Sewell, of this place, spoke over radio KFOR, Long Beach, Friday evening, on a program given by the Church of Christ, of that city. Mr. and Mrs. Sewell and family spent Sunday in Long Beach, where Mr. Sewell, who is pastor of the Santa Ana church of the Church of Christ, occupied the pulpit, preaching the first of a series of sermons in the special meetings which the Long Beach congregation is holding this week.

G. Hartman, of the Wintersburg garage, has moved this week from the Harry Letson home to the house located just across the street and owned by Frank Ulrich.

Mrs. Laura Horton is spending a month as a house guest in the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Nichols.

Jimmie Stinson, small son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stinson, who has been ill with pneumonia, is able to be out again.

FIRE DISTRICT ORGANIZED IN GARDE GROVE

GARDE GROVE, Jan. 12.—A fire district was formed here yesterday, when voters expressed their desire for fire protection at a special election by a vote of 138 to 10.

The election was called to determine whether or not a fire district should be formed in Garde Grove. Immediate action is expected. The act under which the fire district was created provides that the county board of supervisors shall have charge of hiring all employees, making all expenditures and levying taxes.

Money for the purchase of fire fighting equipment and maintenance of the equipment will be raised by a special tax levy on the Garde Grove district. The district will be declared formed at the next meeting of the county board of supervisors. It is expected that about $1500 will be spent in the district in the near future.

HALLMAN HEADS ORANGE REALTORS

ORANGE, Jan. 12.—Frank Hallman was chosen to be president of the Orange Realty board at the annual election held at the Sunshin cafe yesterday. Hallman succeeds Will Martin as president of the board.

In a speech of acceptance, Hallman indicated his desire to further the interests of the board and through the board the interests of the city during the term upon which he now embarks.

Although no statement of policy in the conduct of his office was outlined by Hallman, it is understood that a campaign for city beautification and logical planning will be started soon and carried on during the year.

Other officers chosen at the meeting were as follows: First vice president, S. B. Edwards; second vice president, A. B. Adair; secretary, Thomas Green.

James Livesey sr., past president of the Santa Ana Realty board, was present as a guest of honor at the meeting.

Singers On First Baptist Program

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 12.—A large crowd is expected at the First Baptist church Friday night, when the Cotton Blossom Singers will present a concert. The singers are from a negro school known as the Piney Woods school, in Mississippi.

BOLSA

BOLSA, Jan. 12.—The large gas main which is being put through from Huntington Beach to connect with the main at Fifth street, is going through Bolsa at the present time, and as the crew was tunneling under the culvert of the cross road in Bolsa Sunday, a Mexican member of the crew had two ribs broken and sustained other more minor injuries when the walls of the 10-foot tunnel caved in, burying him.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shutt Jr. left Monday morning for their home at Marysville following a three weeks' holiday vacation spent with relatives in this vicinity. They were accompanied by Shutt's brother-in-law, Earl Gardner, who will assist Shutt with some work on his Marysville property.

Prior to the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Shutt, several social functions were given them in farewell. On Friday, they were entertained in Los Angeles at the home of Mrs. Shutt's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Will Heald. Saturday was spent in Santa Ana, where they were dinner guests in the home of Mrs. Shutt's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Draper. Sunday evening, the visitors, with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Shutt, were entertained at a dinner party at Newport Beach at the home of Mrs. Shutt's niece, Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, and also took the opportunity of calling upon old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Gardner, in Santa Ana, as they passed through.

Mrs. George Harding and young son, Gene Louis, came to their home from Santa Ana Saturday. Mrs. Harding spent a week at the home of her mother, Mrs. E. S. Hall, after leaving the hospital. Mr. Harding's mother, Mrs. Henry Harding, of Santa Ana, who has been caring for Norman and Donald, returned with her, remaining until Tuesday.

Mrs. Anna Carlson spent a day at Santa Ana and with friends at Fullerton.

Word of the safe arrival at his destination, Corvallis, Ore., of Gerald Price, has been received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Price. Gerald made the trip in company with several friends.

A number of the Bolsa ranchers are planting their beets this week and others are putting the finishing work on the ground before putting in their seed.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Miller, of Hawthorne, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ross, as were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Head and two children, of Silver Acres.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richardson and son, Darrell, and Ave Ross, were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker.

PLACENTIA MUTUAL PLANT GETS $1,594,898 FOR CROP; JOHN C. TUFFREE RE-ELECTED

PLACENTIA, Jan. 12.—That the organization received more than a million and a half dollars for its crop, setting a new record for money it has handled, was disclosed to the stockholders of the Placentia Mutual Orange association when Secretary H. O. Easton submitted his report of the fiscal year, November 1, 1925, to October 31, 1926, at the annual meeting of the growers at their packing house at Placentia yesterday.

"Our shipments during this time," Secretary Easton's report stated, "amounted to 1103.42 cars, which is 500 more than last season's output, and 210 cars more than in the 1923-24 season which was our record year."

946 Cars of Valencia
"We have shipped 946.33 cars of Valencia, 68.77 cars of navel, 86.23 cars of lemons, and 8.09 cars of miscellaneous."

The returns f. o. b. our packing house amounted to $1,411,882.76 for the Valencia, $50,044.93 for the navel, $100,336.40 for lemons, and $2,784.54 for miscellaneous, or a total of $1,594,898.79, which is also a record for money handled.

Growing conditions for the 1925-26 crop were practically ideal, there being a fair amount of rainfall, no damaging frosts and a very little wind to scar the fruit or check its growth. As a result of these conditions the fruit has been of excellent size and quality.

Spraying Hit
"With but few exceptions, the sprayed orchards did not produce as high a grade of fruit as the unsprayed. There were more than 600 acres of our orchards sprayed, and naturally the average grade for the season was somewhat lowered. As a rule the coming crop is much lighter on the sprayed groves."

"The big oil tank fire at Brea blackened the fruit over a large part of the district and it was found practically impossible to clean it."

"The cost of picking per field box for the season is 7.5c."

Boost Capital Stock
It was voted to increase the capital stock from $150,000 to $200,000. Directors of the association were re-elected to serve for another year. They are: John C. Tuffree, president; Samuel Kraemer, vice president; C. C. Wagner, E. A. Beck, William Bielefeldt, Charles E. Fuller and E. C. Basten.

Outline Social Events On Orange Club's Calendar

ORANGE, Jan. 12.—Coming social events were discussed at the monthly meeting of the Woman's club executive board yesterday at the Woman's clubhouse.

Foremost in the series planned by the board is the burlesque, "The Singing School Regiment," to be staged in the high school auditorium on January 25. Mrs. C. R. Weaver, chairman, reported progress in the selection of the cast.

A musical tea for January 31, at which the Fullerton Elbell club chorus will entertain with a recital, was discussed. Mrs. J. B. Pratt and Mrs. C. A. Elson will be the committee in charge, it was decided.

Past presidents, headed by Mrs. D. C. Pixley, senior past president, will entertain the Woman's club on February 7 at a costume party celebrating the club birthday, it was decided. The party will be in the nature of a luncheon.

A valentine card party was scheduled for February 11.

The Woman's club chorus trio will entertain at the next meeting of the club on January 17, when Mrs. C. F. Rowell conducts a book review.

YORBA LINDA

YORBA LINDA, Jan. 12.—S. E. Collins and Hoyt Corbett have returned from a hunting trip to Sutter county.

Mr. and Mrs. Warwick Murray were hosts to the Friday Evening Bridge club. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. S. Tutton, C. Eichler, Mrs. Eichler and Mrs. Harry Hoben. Members were all present and included Misses Mary and Mrs. George Myers, Mr. and Mrs. B. Solover, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Paine and Mr. and Mrs. Grover Beale. The February meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Enright visited friends in Whittier the first of the week.

Mrs. Vasco Mills, of Whittier, spent Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. Julia Selover.

Mrs. Gail Page spent Monday in Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, Mr. and Mrs. C. Eichler and Mr. and Mrs. B. Solover enjoyed a picnic dinner in Chino canyon on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Crane, who have spent several weeks here with relatives have returned to their home in Sutter county.

Annexation Loses By Close Vote

ANAHEIM, Jan. 12.—A proposition to annex approximately 600 acres of land southeast of this city failed yesterday by the close vote of 55 to 56.

The election was called recently by city trustees after the city board had received a petition from 44 property owners in the district, asking that an election be called to annex the property. The petition was presented to the trustees last June.

Approximately 500 persons reside in the territory which was to have been annexed to Anaheim. The district is said to be badly in need of water and other public improvements.

REMODELING OF ANAHEIM BEEF PLANT STARTS

ANAHEIM, Jan. 12.—Work of enlarging and modernizing the former Anaheim Beef company packing plant, now owned and operated by the Southern Meat company, which is to involve an expenditure of more than $25,000, is expected to be completed this month and plans are being made for a public reception to be held the latter part of the month in celebration of the event.

After being idle more than four months pending the settlement of bankruptcy proceedings in which the former Anaheim Beef company became involved, the packing house began business under the new ownership late in October last year and is now operating under full steam.

Meanwhile, workmen have been busy remodeling, redecorating and otherwise improving the plant so that, when completed, it will stand as one of the most modern enterprises in the Southland. The exterior is being finished in Spanish style stucco and the grounds are being beautified with lawn and shrubs.

C. C. Chapman, Fullerton millionaire, one of the major stockholders of the former Anaheim Beef company, now owns the controlling interest in the new firm and it is under his direction that the present improvements are being made.

BALBOA CHAMBER BACKS PORT BONDS

BALBOA, Jan. 12.—Endorsement of the coming $500,000 port bond project and decision to merge the proposed central chamber of commerce were features of last night's meeting of the Balboa Chamber of Commerce.

Necessity for all members of the chamber to work for the bonds was told by various speakers. If the central civic body is organized, it will consist of all the chambers of the harbor district, including the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, which disbanded last week.

A report by Miss Lillian Van Osada, secretary, revealed that the Balboa chamber has 210 members, as against 175 members at this time last year. There is a good reason for the increase, she said. Sixty persons were present. A social time followed the meeting.

Among those present at the meeting were Mayor Conrad Richter, Dr. F. W. Slabough, Lew Wallace and Harry Welch.

J. P. Greeley, president of the chamber, presided.

TALBERT

TALBERT, Jan. 12.—Mrs. M. Hale, secretary of the W. C. T. U., was here from Los Angeles last Sunday morning and spoke on the W. C. T. U. work just prior to the opening of Sunday school at the Methodist church, south. Mrs. Hale gave an interesting talk and urged that a W. C. T. U. society be organized in Talbert.

At the evening service of the Methodist church, the Rev. J. J. Woodson announced that on Thursday of this week an all-day meeting of the missionary societies of the Greenville and Talbert churches will be held in Talbert. The meeting will be held either at the church or the parsonage and each woman attending is to bring one dish toward the pot luck dinner which will be a feature of the day. Everyone is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Howard have been spending the greater part of their time in Long Beach, where their two oldest sons are in the hospital.

Mrs. A. F. Swift and daughter, Miss Mildred Swift, who have been ill with influenza, are improved.

J. H. Cox, who has been ill, is able to be out again.

Mrs. J. J. Woodson was able to be out Sunday, following a week's illness and that day her daughter, Miss Dorothy Woodson, was taken ill and has been missing from school for several days.

Ed Helm is confined to his home by illness this week.

Miss Dorothy Robb is ill with influenza this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Studebaker, of Santa Ana, were Monday evening visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Talbert.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Giesler, of this place, with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Giesler and their son, Antonio Giesler, of Santa Ana, left Monday morning for Oxnard to spend several days with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ward spent Sunday at Downey with Mrs. M. and Disma, aunt of Mrs. Ward, and her family.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wells and Mrs. C. Burley returned Sunday from Las Vegas, Nev., where they went on business the week before Christmas.

While at Las Vegas, Mrs. Burley filed on 2500 acres of land under the law which gives extra rights to persons who develop water in arid districts. Twenty-five acres are required to go for water development and L. T. Wells will return to Las Vegas within 10 days, taking with him a drilling outfit, which he will use in this development on the land taken by five parties who are locating in this valley, some 25 miles from the town of Las Vegas. Arid water may be had at a depth of 400 feet and it is planned to put down five wells as soon as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells left the children at Las Vegas, where they put 9 Directors Named By Mesa C. of C.

COSTA MESA, Jan. 12.—Nine new directors of the local chamber of commerce were elected yesterday. The new directors are Henry Whitcup, C. W. TeWinkle, N. O. Mellett, L. C. Slothover, Fred Opp, R. G. Chambers, LeRoy P. Anderson, George J. Gardner and Donald J. Dodge.

The new directors were placed in office at a special election held by the chamber of commerce members. The new directors will organize at the next regular meeting of the chamber of commerce.

Members of the chamber of commerce met at the bank building Monday night where reports were given of the work accomplished during the past year by the organization.

REORGANIZE BIBLE CLASS IN ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, Jan. 12.—Reorganization of the Men's Noonday Bible class, which met with such success last year, was effected at a luncheon meeting held yesterday in the Knights of Pythias hall.

Ministers and laymen representatives of most of the principal churches of the city were present to assist in completing details for the series of weekly luncheon meetings planned from now until Easter.

Dr. J. H. Johnston, chairman of the religious work committee of the local Y. M. C. A., and last year's president of the class, presided over the session.

Local pastors and prominent speakers from outside the city will bring significant religious messages to the class meetings as a preparation for the observance of the Easter period.

Placentia Civic Body Hears L. A. Expert On Dam

PLACENTIA, Jan. 12.—The annual meeting and banquet of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce was held on Monday evening in the Presbyterian church parlors.

More than 80 persons sat down to the dinner, which had been prepared by the women of the social circle of the church.

Before the invocation by Dr. G. A. Manshady, who joined in singing "America," the president, A. S. Bradford, called the meeting to order and made a few opening remarks introducing John C. Tuffree, who was in charge of the evening's program; Placentia's first mayor, Harry O. Easton. Others introduced were the trustees, S. M. Harmony, Andrew Ipsen and William W. Krick; clerk, E. A. Elsenacher; treasurer, Fred Woodson; marshal, Jesse Buckles, and recorder, Tom Pickerrill.

Communications were read by Secretary Tom Pickerrill and the meeting was turned over to Toastmaster Wintrop Bowen, who, after a few humorous remarks, announced Miss Maxine Farrell, who gave a reading. Edward P. Backs contributed vocal numbers. He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Richard Miller. Dr. G. A. Manshady read a poem, his own composition, on "The Chamber of Commerce for 1927."

The speaker of the evening was J. Hunter Clark, of the bureau of light and power, Los Angeles. Mr. Clark's address on the Boulder dam was of genuine interest.

them in school. Mrs. Burley will remain until she has disposed of local property.

S. Harry Harper has been quite ill the past week and unable to attend to his garage work.

Margaret Helm, who has been ill for several weeks with measles, returned to her class room Monday.

Two of the teachers of the Fountain Valley school, Mrs. Wilson, of the first and second grades, and Mrs. Harvey of the third and fourth grades, were absent from their duties several days the past week on account of illness.

Substitute teachers from Santa Ana took charge of their rooms during their absence.

R. L. Callens and his son-in-law, Walter Giesler, returned Monday morning from a week's hunting trip into Glenn county, each bagging a full limit of both geese and ducks.

Here's Speedy Relief From Bunions and Soft Corns

All Druggists Say Emerald Oil Must Give Complete Satisfaction or Money Cheerfully Refunded

Get a two-ounce bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) today. Every well stocked drug store has this, with the distinct understanding that your money will be cheerfully returned if it does not reduce the inflammation, soreness and pain much quicker than any remedy you ever used.

Your bunions may be so swollen and inflamed that you think you can't go another step. Your shoes may feel as if they are cutting right into the flesh. You feel sick all over with the pain and torture and pray for quick relief. What's to be done?

BEACH MAYOR BACKS COUNTY LEAGUE PLAN

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 12.—A new organization which probably will be known as the Orange County Municipality league, it was reported today, will be formed here February 2, it was reported today.

C. G. Boster, president of the local board of the city trustees, is back of the plan.

Reports here today were to the effect that the city trustees of the various towns will endeavor to form an organization similar to the peace officers' association.

It is believed that an organization made up of the various city boards of trustees would bring about greater co-operation between the cities of Orange county and would weld the interests of the county more closely together.

The peace officers will hold their annual business meeting and elect officers here February 2. A banquet will be served.

2 H. B. WELLS CO ON PRODUCTION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 12.—The Richfield Oil company, yesterday began production of its second well on the Buck lease in the city field in the west end of Huntington Beach, getting an initial production of 1200 barrels a day, according to official reports.

The well was completed at a depth of 4010 feet, and is producing oil testing 21 degrees gravity. Pressure on the tubing is reported at nearly 300 pounds and indications are that the well will continue to hold up to its initial output in good shape, it is said. Buck No. 2 is located at the corner of Olive avenue and Eighteenth street.

EVENING SALUTATION

Let me grow lovely, growing old,
So many fine things do:
Laces, and ivory, and gold,
And silks, need not be new;

And there is healing in old trees;
Old streets a glamour hold;
Why may not I, as well as these,
Grow lovely, growing old?

THE HIGHWAY PROBLEM

In looking to the future growth and development and prosperity of California, no single factor stands out more prominently or more promisingly than its highway system. And the voters and taxpayers of the state are just now confronted with the problem of timely and adequate financing of that factor.

The opinion is quite generally entertained and expressed, that a large majority of those who voted "No" on either of the highway financing proposals submitted at the November election did so in the hope and confident expectation that the other—for which they voted "Yes"—would carry. Indeed, it is probable that a great majority of the taxpayers who voted either way on either of these proposals would rather both had carried than that both should be defeated. In other and fewer words, the majority of voters and taxpayers are willing to provide funds for highway extension, for new construction. Undoubtedly it is upon this theory that Governor Young, in his inaugural message, strongly recommended legislative action to that end, and that such legislation has been initiated by the introduction of bills, one calling for an increased gasoline tax and one providing for a bonds election.

There seems to be little hope or expectation that the bonds election bill will pass, and it would seem expedient for those who think funds for new highway construction should be provided to put their faith in the gasoline tax proposal and concentrate their strength in support of that measure.

The best information obtainable indicates that it would be a mistake to proceed upon the theory that present sources of revenue for highways will provide any considerable amount, if anything at all, for new construction. Maintenance and reconstruction are imperative if the tremendous investment in paved highways is to be adequately protected.

The state highway system now consists of about 6600 miles of roads, upon over half of which construction work has been done. Paving has been completed on 2500 miles, and nearly 700 miles of highways, previously built, had been completely reconstructed on June 30 of this year.

But for all that, the state highway system, even as originally planned, is far from complete, and it is even farther from complete, in the sense of adequateness, with respect to present and prospective needs.

Continuous and rapid increase in population and wealth bring increases in traffic on state highways beyond possibility of forecasting, and there are no discernible factors to stabilize the growth of traffic at any given point. These considerations force the conclusion that California cannot exercise true economy and allow construction of state highways to remain at a standstill.

The insistent needs at the present time are to construct the interstate routes to our borders, to develop road facilities to and around our great recreational areas, to open new traffic arteries for relief of congestion in and around our large population centers, to provide all of our county seats with the highway facilities mutually agreed upon in 1910, and to provide lateral roads connecting with the main lines to permit of cross travel between the valleys and the coast.

The state highway engineer has estimated that for the present highway system over $200,000,000 will be required to provide the facilities demanded by the public. Highway construction costs are approximately four times as great as fifteen years ago, when the state highway project was inaugurated, and engineers predict that still greater and wider facilities must be provided.

It would therefore seem advisable for those who believe in looking ahead and going ahead, those who have faith in the marvelous future of California, to assist in any way they can in forwarding legislation that will provide funds for proceeding conservatively with the completion of California's wonderful system of highways, which undoubtedly constitutes one of its greatest attractions and resources.

NO SPECIAL PRIVILEGES

California's new superintendent of the motor vehicle department has started out right, and there's every reason to believe he will keep going along the path he has started upon. His first official act was to cancel some 3000 or more "special" badges that had been issued by the department to "friends" all over the state. These badges had been looked on by motorcycle officers and by the persons who held them as signifying immunity from arrest. "You can't arrest me," is what in effect, they said.

Orange county had its fill of special privileges and fixing of speed tickets. The situation in this county was cleared up last summer with the arrival of Inspector Greer, after insistent demands were made on the state department for changes. Other counties of the state are still operating under the special privilege system for motor drivers, and the new motor vehicle head has a job on his hands in putting his policy into effect. Withdrawal of the immunity badges was the first step needed to help the situation. That would do no good if the new department head merely took badges away from the friends of the old administration and gave new badges to friends of the new administration. Chief Snook, however, says that there will be no more special privileges. So far, good. If the motor vehicle head will proceed now to get rid of the state motor inspectors who have stood in with squad captains for the fixing of tickets wholesale and otherwise, there will be a grand clean-up all over the state. Mr. Snook cannot expect motor captains and motorcycle officers to be any less given to the squelching of special privileges than is exhibited by inspectors. From what we know of Mr. Snook, he fully realizes this to be true, and it appears likely that his ideas along that line will result in a number of changes in the department.

Motor squads can be cleaned up if an inspector so wills it; we know that to be true, because our squad here in Orange county, some months ago, went through a revision of practices that was very much needed.

A WORTHY PROJECT

There should be and we feel sure there will be no difficulty in bringing the Parent-Teacher association's sale of tickets for a winter musical program series to a successful end. Santa Ana, for some years past, has enjoyed a growing reputation as a musical center and that reputation will be enhanced by the presentation of the artists scheduled to appear here in the P.-T. A. course.

The Santa Ana P.-T. A. is to be commended for its enterprise and public spirit in planning the course. For that enterprise and public spirit, if for no other reason, its musical project should receive support.

But aside from all other considerations, the concerts are worth much more to any music lover than the price of the season tickets. In fact, any one of the concerts is worth the price of the season ticket.

The women of the Parent-Teacher association are starting tomorrow to sell 600 tickets, at $2.50 apiece. That number should be sold with ease.

Congress is asked to sanction a great international highway from Canada right down through the United States, Mexico and Central America. Better ask Mexico and Nicaragua.

Fomenting Discord

Some of the Los Angeles papers are still holding post mortems over the election returns with a view of stirring up animosity between the north and south. To read some of these articles one would be led to infer that all the virtue in the state resides in the people of Southern California and that it is little short of a crime that this section has to be tied up with the wicked people of San Francisco and Sacramento in the relations of statehood.

An analysis is made of the state vote on the repeal of the Wright act and on the race track gambling measure in an effort to prove a radical difference between the two sections of the state on moral issues. The returns however do not bear out that theory in any substantial manner. It is true that Los Angeles and other Southern California counties voted against the race track law and against repeal of the Wright act while San Francisco and Sacramento voted for gambling and for repeal of the enforcement law. In other counties in Northern and Central California however the vote on these two moral issues was in harmony with the majorities in Southern California. In fact some of those northern counties showed a "dry" sentiment and an anti-gambling sentiment stronger than the general sentiment in Southern California on those issues. San Francisco and Sacramento have a much larger proportion of the "old California" vote than almost any other counties in the state; and that vote represents the "liberal" sentiment which existed in the early days of the history of the state. Even there however, the sentiment is changing; and the difference in viewpoint forms no sound argument for state division.

An analysis of the vote on other issues shows that the sentiment was not divided on the lines of the north against the south. There was a line-up of all the rest of the state against Los Angeles on the re-apportionment issue.

Every county in the state, except Los Angeles, voted in favor of Amendment Number 28, the farm bureau or federal plan of apportionment. That vote was inspired by fear of the growing political power of Los Angeles and of the arrogant, selfish and brutal manner in which that power is sometimes used against other parts of the state. And the Southern California counties, outside of Los Angeles, were just as strong for Number 28 as was any county in the north. Opposition to the Automobile club plan of highway financing, Number 8, was also somewhat sectional; and it was sectional because the law was generally regarded as an opening wedge for state division. And Riverside and other Southern California counties, outside of Los Angeles, are just as much opposed to state division as is San Francisco or Sacramento.

On the great majority of the propositions on the ballot, the vote indicated no suggestion of sectional feeling. The people differed, and differed honestly, but not because they lived in one section or another.

State division is about as dead an issue as could be dug up at this time; and the efforts in Los Angeles to galvanize it into a semblance of life are doomed to complete failure.

SKIN ERUPTIONS LAID TO DYE IN FUR
Every winter physicians who specialize in diseases of the skin are asked to see cases of eruptions around the throat and wrists resulting from poisoning with incompletely or improperly dyed furs.

The principal symptoms are blotches and swelling with itching and burning, so severe in some cases that the person cannot sleep at night.

The trouble is found in most instances to result from rabbit that is dyed to imitate beaver, although all sorts of furs may be involved.

In these cases the poisonous substance is usually a compound of paraphenylenediamine, the same poisonous substance that causes irritation of the scalps of those who attempt to dye gray hair black.

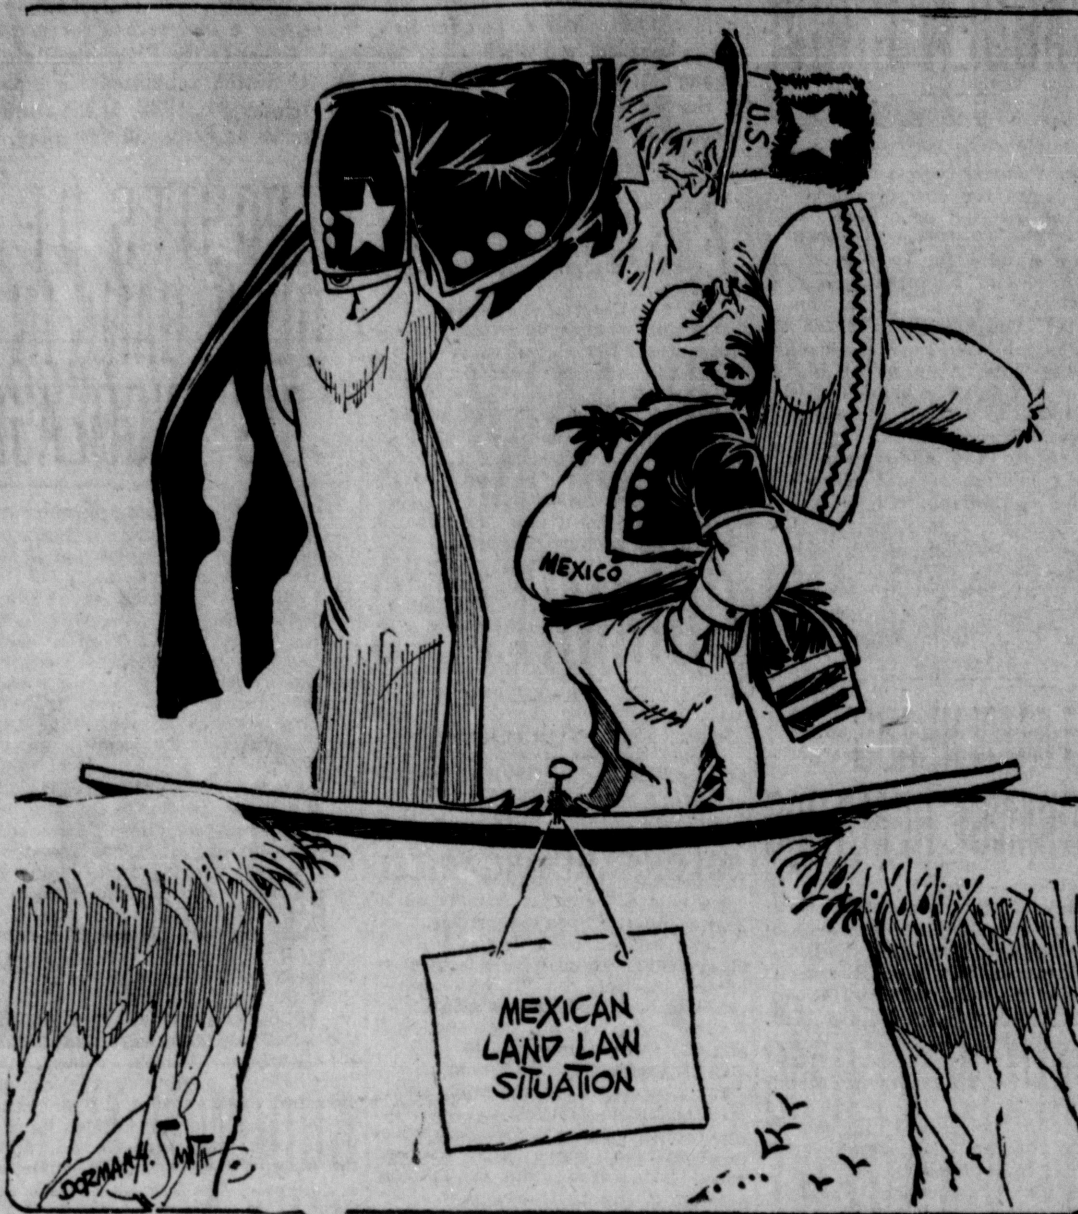

Many foreign nations have introduced laws to prevent the use of this substance in hair dyes and to regulate the fur-dyeing industry. Similar laws have been passed in some of our states, but there is as yet no nation-wide regulation regarding the use of this substance.

Not all persons are equally sensitive to this dye. Some may wear furs dyed in this manner without symptoms, but those who are sensitive develop severe reactions.

Several investigative committees are attempting to secure a record of all of the cases of this type that occur.

If anyone knows of such an instance, the report may be sent to the Committee on Dye Poisoning of the American Medical Association, 535 N. Dearborn street, Chicago.

Restoring Golden Rule
To Affairs of World

San Bernardino Sun

At the recent religious conference in Milwaukee on the subject of practical Christianity in modern life, attended by great numbers of college students, those representing theological colleges passed resolutions refusing to endorse or participate in any future war and to work to restore the golden rule in the world of business competition. The American people want no war with anybody unless we are absolutely right in our contention. However, the trouble with that proviso is, that it is the habit of the people of every nation to believe that they have right on their side when they fight. No people could have believed more sincerely in the righteousness of their cause than did the Germans in the late war. If we are to stop war we must take the attitude that we will not approve it even when we are right unless forced into it by the active aggression of some other nation. In that sense we could be "too proud to fight," our pride being that of one who sacrifices and endures for the sake of others. That is the Christian attitude, but we are probably not sufficiently Christian as a nation to take it.

So far as "restoring" the golden rule to business is concerned, nothing of that kind can be done, because it has never ruled in competitive business. Never in the history of the world has business been transacted along the lines of that wonderful principle, except by rare individuals. The rule of business in every land and every age has been "all the traffic will bear," until quite recent times, when some of the spirit of this rule has begun to manifest itself. One of its first manifestations was the adoption in the United States of the one price system of merchandising. Everywhere else in the world even the purchase of a small article at retail involved a bargaining controversy between buyer and seller, each trying to get the better of the other. It was the worst in Oriental lands and still is, but the principle of making a bargaining trade of every transaction obtained everywhere. Only in America does the system of a fair price and the same to all prevail as the common rule of trade.

While this is not the golden rule in its complete flower, it has some of the spirit of the rule in its effort to make all transactions fair to both parties. We need to develop that spirit and apply it more fully to all our human intercourse, not merely to retail trade. When we shall have carried it into our international relations we shall have done much to promote universal peace.

Worth While Verse

THE ROSE OF HOPE

That overnight a rose could come
I did one time believe;
For, when the fairies live with one,
They wondrously deceive.

But now I know this perfect thing
Under the frozen sod
In cold and storm grow patiently Obedient to God.

My wonder grows, since knowledge came Old fancies to dismiss;
And courage comes. Was not the rose
A Winter doing this?

Nor did it know, the weary while,
What color and perfume
With this completed loveliness
Lay in that earthly tomb.

So maybe I, who cannot see
What God wills not to show,
May, some day, bear a rose for Him
It took my life to grow.

Little Benny's
Note Book

We was having Penmanship in skool today and Miss Kitty was wawking up and down the flies watching us write, and she came up to my desk and stopped going pass, saying Benny Potts, autch hands.

Meaning dirty, and I looked at them serprized, saying, G, they must of got that way.

I didnt suppose you were born that way, Im going to send you rite home to wash them, Ill write you a note to give your mother and Ill give you jest one hour to go home and get your hands into a normal condition and be back heer agen, Miss Kitty sed.

And she rote a note and gave it to me and I went home feeling kind of funny being the only one going home from skool, and ma was up in her room sewing on the sewing machine with pins in her mouth, and she took them out saying, Well of all things wat are you doing out of skool at this hour, was the class let out erly?

Part of it, I sed, and ma sed, Part of it, thats queer, I never herd of part of the class being dismissed erly, wats the idee of that, wat part?

Mam? I sed and ma sed, Now dont start to Mam, yu herd me, I sed wat part of the class went home erly?

Me, I sed.

Now see heer, are you trying to be funny? ma sed, and I sed, No mam, hears a note for you.

And I handed it to her and she red it, saying, Well for pity sakes this is diskracefull, let me see your hands, why ther not so very dirty, wats a matter with that teetcheer?

She's crazy, I sed, and ma sed, She must be, do you meen to say she sent you home because your hands looked like that? and I sed No mam, not ickaxly, I washed them in the bathroom before I came in heer.

Wich I did, and ma made me we wash them agen and rote a note back to Miss Kitty saying they must of got that way on the way to skool.

Daddy's Office Chair

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS

DADDIES were just naturally made for hero worship. When the child is wee Daddy is a being who makes excursions into an entrancing outer world, coming back for occasional playtimes, a being of authority to be treated with respect. Later everything Daddy does is crowned with wonder. He isn't always around like mother, nor does he have the everlasting problems of training to face. His is a special advantage for comradeship and inspiration if he'll only take it, and no Daddy need ever come down from his pedestal except by his own carelessness or indifference. I fear too many Daddies are so busy accumulating material things for little sons and daughters that they fail to endow them with the companionship and contact which is life's greatest treasure. They are entirely missing, for instance, the radiance of importance enveloping the little son who is permitted to sit in Daddy's office chair.

WHEN I visit Daddy's office

Up so high it's 'most a mile,
I always hope he'll leave the room
And stay out quite a while,
'Cause I pretend I own the place
Since no one else is there,
And I'm the "big boss," sitting
In my Daddy's office chair.

When I push the buzzer button, (This is only just pretend),
All my servants come a-runnin'
From the farther office end.
There's a secretary lady
And a typist bowing there,
With a boy and my assistant Waiting near my office chair.

All the business men consult me,
And we talk of this 'n' that.
Then the Mayor comes to see me
In a shiny stove-pipe hat.
I tilt 'way back, then first I know It's Daddy standing there.
He says, "Well, son, when you grow up I'll let you have that chair."

Second Time to Aid Diaz

History repeats itself in America's befriending of President Adolfo Diaz of Nicaragua. It's the second time this country has gone to his aid.

Diaz, while Nicaragua's president in 1912, had trouble with one General Mena much as he now is in difficulties with Rebel Leader Sacasa.

In January, 1912, the Nicaraguan Constituent Assembly, or congress, adopted and promulgated the Nicaraguan constitution, which stipulated that Nicaraguan sovereignty rested in Nicaragua and that congress alone might authorize loans and levy taxes.

The assembly attacked American interference, claiming that the American charge d'affaires had sought to monkey with the constitution and its promulgation.

President Diaz, who had come into office when President Estrada resigned under pressure, promptly dissolved the congress, which had elected Mena president of the country for the following term.

Diaz ordered Mena's arrest and Mena escaped to Masaya, where he convened the congress and organized his own government. According to report, Diaz soon found himself in sore straits and unsafe outside of Managua.

At this point the United States stepped in and its intervention apparently was all that saved the Diaz skin.

Eight vessels of war, 125 officers and 2600 enlisted men were used to support Adolfo. They participated in the bombardment of Managua, a night ambush at Masaya, the surrender of General Mena and his army at Granada, the capture of the Mena gunboats Victoria and Ninety-Three, the attack on and the capture of Coyotepe, the defense of Paso Cabillos Bridge and garrison duty at Corinto, Chinandega and elsewhere.

Thus, General Emiliano Chamorro had the nucleus of an army right there when he began his revolt against the Solorzano government late in 1925. The Solorzano government was a coalition of liberal and anti-Chamorro conservatives. Solorzano, the president, was a conservative, but a nationalist. Sacasa, the vice president, was a liberal.

If you will look up these names on your Nicaragua map, you will note how closely Diaz was hemmed in at Managua before this country stepped in.

"The most notable event during the campaign," according to the secretary of the navy's report for 1913, "was the assault and capture of Coyotepe, resulting in entirely crushing the revolution and restoring peace to Nicaragua; this assault lasting 37 minutes under heavy fire from the rebel forces before the position, which was considered impregnable by the federal forces, could be taken."

American marines stayed in Nicaragua and Diaz and his conservative successors had things much their own way. The elections of Emiliano Chamorro and Diego Chamorro followed the Diaz term and these two were also given the whole-hearted support of the United States. The Chamorro family became an important one in Nicaragua.

Statistics of the Pan-American Federation of Labor show that in 1921 13 gentlemen named Chamorro held offices of president, minister of the interior, minister to the United States, president of the congress, counselor of the treasury, chief of police at Managua, commander of Managua fortress, director of internal revenue, chief of police at Corinto, chief of police at Corinto, chief of the northern army, consul in New Orleans, consul in San Francisco and consul in London.

Thus, General Emiliano Chamorro had the nucleus of an army right there when he began his revolt against the Solorzano government late in 1925. The Solorzano government was a coalition of liberal and anti-Chamorro conservatives. Solorzano, the president, was a conservative, but a nationalist. Sacasa, the vice president, was a liberal.

We Pay Too High a Price

We often pay too high a price
For what men call success!
For pomp or fame, we offer twice
Its worth in happiness.
Too many of us have not learned
What things in life are best;
Intent on trifles, we have turned From gladness, peace and rest.

by
O. Lawrence
Hawthorne

We fail to see that love means more Than prominence or wealth.
Too often we put pride before
The golden gift of health.
We sacrifice to gods of greed
The confidence of friends;
And in our mad pursuit of speed
Our comfort often ends.

We pay too high a price, I say,
For things of little worth,
And thoughtlessly we cast away
The precious things of earth.
Oh, when will men begin to know
That joy supreme is found Where Nature's wondrous beauties grow,
And love and truth abound?
